Roosevelt Denounces Holding Companies In Message

LEGISLATION FOR CURBING IS DEFENDED

President Aroused by Campaign of Utility Firms Against Proposed Laws

MEASURE DRAWN UP

Calls for Elimination of Holding Companies at End of Next Five Years

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—Pending legislation for stringent regulation of public utilities holding companies was vigorously defended by President Roosevelt today.

Answering what he termed a propaganda campaign of misrepresentation, the president informed congress the legislation "will not destroy a penny of actual value of those operating properties which holding companies now control and which holding company securities represent, insofar as they have any value."

"On the contrary," said Mr. Roosevelt, "it will surround the necessary reorganization of the holding company with safeguards which will in fact protect the investor."

The president was aroused by the campaign of utility companies against the bill. Transmitting to congress a report of the national power policy committee, he took opportunity to outline the purposes of the measure and to renege the administration attack on holding companies.

He said congressional leaders with whom he had consulted agreed that total elimination of five years of holding companies "which cannot justify themselves as necessary for the functioning" of operating companies was essential "to a realistic and far-sighted treatment of the evils of public utility holding companies."

Denounces Firms

Mr. Roosevelt denounced holding companies as "a corporate invention which can give a few corporate insiders unwarranted and intolerable powers over other people's money."

He said they had built up in the public utility field "a system of private socialism which is inimical to the welfare of a free people."

The destruction of this "private socialism," he said, "is utterly essential."

VOTE ON RICE BILL AGAIN IS DEFERRED

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—A senate vote on the De Rouen Rice bill probably will be deferred until final disposition of the works relief bill or later, it was said today.

The bill passed the house, was favorably reported by the senate agriculture committee and is on the senate calendar. It would levy a one cent a pound processing tax on rough rice; exempt from taxation any rough rice produced in 1933-34 for which growers received the full price stipulated by last year's marketing agreement; and eliminate the floor stocks tax.

Rice being a basic commodity of the AAA, the processing tax could be levied administratively, but the De Rouen bill would make possible taxation beginning April 1 instead of at the beginning of the crop year.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

SACRAMENTO, March 12.—(UP)—The California senate tossed a bombshell into Governor Frank F. Merriam's Townsend old age pension plan attitude today when it refused to approve a resolution asking congress to adopt the plan in all its details. The vote, taken after a lengthy debate, was 17 to 81.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—The house today approved, 200 to 86, an amendment to the federal housing act which would permit that agency to insure loans of not more than $50,000 to improve industrial plants and apartment houses.

Annette Dionne Cuts Her First Tooth

CALLENDER, Ont., March 12.—(UP)—Annette Dionne, one of the world-famous quintuplets, has cut her first tooth, it was learned today.

Annette, third largest of the five tiny girls at birth—each weighed less than two pounds—soon showed more rapid progress than her sisters.

When they were measured a month ago Annette, Yvonne and Cecile each were 26 inches tall, with Emilie trailing them by an inch and Marie, the smallest of the five, 24 inches in height.

Annette and her sisters will be one year old on May 28.

HUGH JOHNSON IS PLAYED BY REV. COUGHLIN

Thousands of Telegrams of Congratulations Pour in on Preacher

DETROIT, March 12.—(UP)—Telegrams by the thousands poured in on the Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin today, showing that whatever effect his stirring radio speech last night had in political circles at Washington and financial circles in New York, it had struck a responsive chord with many.

Heralded as a response to Gen. Hugh S. Johnson's denunciation of him and Sen. Huey P. Long, Coughlin's 45-minute address over a national radio network became a fervent denunciation of the present monetary and banking system and of certain bankers, notably Bernard M. Baruch.

But Johnson was not neglected. Johnson, he said, was "a cracked gramophone record squawking the messages of his master's voice," "a chocolate soldier who never faced an enemy or an issue," "a bourgeois comic opera cream-puff with an understating vocabulary."

Telegraph companies reported they were swamped with messages addressed to Coughlin at the Shrine of the Little Flower, Royal Oaks, Mich., where he is pastor. Coughlin, exhausted by his oratory into which he put all his skillful technique and his economic and moral convictions, retired to the rectory, leaving word that he was not to be disturbed.

Laudatory Messages

It was understood, however, that a large majority of the telegraphic responses from every corner of the nation, was laudatory. Coughlin's admirers and supporters said he had made the supreme effort of his career as social reformer and microphone orator; his enemies for the most part were silent, although in Washington Gen. Johnson branded Coughlin and Long "a pair of political termites."

Johnson first expressed his willingness to lead a non-partisan, non-political "extermination" crusade, but later modified that statement.

STORE SALES SHOW GAIN IN FEBRUARY

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—Department store sales in February were 5 per cent ahead of a year ago and showed a more than seasonal increase over January, the federal reserve board reported today.

Sales were 75 per cent of the 1923-25 average, compared with 72 per cent in January and 77 per cent in December. Sales in January and February were 5 per cent ahead of a year ago.

By Federal reserve districts February sales showed gains over a year ago of 12 per cent in Kansas City; 11 per cent in Richmond; 9 per cent in San Francisco; 8 per cent in Chicago; 7 per cent in Atlanta; 6 per cent in Dallas; 5 per cent in Minneapolis; 4 per cent in Philadelphia; 3 per cent in Boston, 2 per cent in St. Louis and 1 per cent in New York. Cleveland showed a loss of 9 per cent.

112 Million Deficiency Bill Okayed

First Large Appropriation Measure is Passed by House Committee

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—The first deficiency appropriation bill of the 74th congress, carrying $112,260,800.00 of which $94,650,000 would go to the veterans' administration to care for liberalized compensation payments, was reported favorably to the house today by the appropriations committee.

The funds are to meet governmental expenses up to June 1, not provided in regular appropriations bills already passed but included in budget estimates of the year's expenditures.

The additional funds for the veterans' administration were occasioned by liberalization of benefits through legislation and executive orders, and through enactment of a law by the last congress allowing pensions to widows and children of veterans who were receiving disability compensation at the time of their death.

The bill provided $110,000 for the federal trade commission to carry on investigations of the milk industry and various public utilities.

Funds appropriated for other purposes included: to the San Diego exposition, $350,000; National Archives commission, $475,000; Forest Service for fighting forest fires, $2,348,000; Department of Justice, $336,665; Navy department, $189,274; Postoffice department, $3,049,000; State department, $103,556; Treasury department, $1,429,504; war department, $7,781,445; judgments and authorized claims, $815,353; and House or Representatives expenses, $32,000.

KING OF SIAM ASKS 25 CENT ALLOWANCE

LAUSANNE, March 12.—(UP)—Eleven-year-old King Ananda of Siam asked today that, in view of his royal status, his allowance be increased—from 15 to 25 cents a day.

He announced also that Siam would have a first class fire department under his reign.

"Every country needs perfect fire engines," he said.

He announced his favorite picture books as "Three Little Pigs," "Felix the Cat," "Mickey Mouse" and "Ramayana"—the last book on Siamese mythology.

Communism Would Destroy Democratic Principles

(AN EDITORIAL)

We are glad it is reaching the point that intelligent people now know that those who are in favor of free speech are not Communists, neither are they believers in the Communistic program.

In fact, one of the distinguishing features between the regime of democracy, as typified in the United States and Great Britain, and the only country where Communism has become a political reality, is that in democracy there is a freedom of expression and criticism and in the communistic state there is no such freedom.

While it is very probable that inside the party ranks in Russia, there may be permitted a suggestion of how things might or might not be improved inside the Communistic regime, neither by voice nor by press is there any permission to criticize the Stalin-Soviet policy, as such.

For these, execution and Siberia wait. And only recently did we have evidences of the swiftness with which vengeance falls on those who would differ with the policy of the government.

HUEY LONG SEEKS PART OF RELIEF APPROPRIATION TO SEND YOUTHS TO COLLEGES

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—As Huey Long moved again into debate over the $4,880,000,000 work relief program, the Senate was warned today that "all the people who are dying of starvation will die before we pass this bill unless we make faster progress."

The warning came from Sen. M. C. Logan, D., Ky., who interrupted a plea by Long for aid to colleges.

"I'm not trying to hold up this bill," Long retorted. "All I'm doing is trying to get the senate to listen to the standpoint of our educators in the colleges."

Long proposed that Costigan accept a further change so that the money could be used for educational purposes as well.

"I'd like to have several hundred million set aside for the purpose of advancing it to universities to be given students wanting to attend college," Long said.

Long criticized the Civilian Conservation Corps.

"Those boys," he said, "don't know how to plant saplings. Why, 99 per cent of the saplings die. They haven't sprouted and never will."

He said that for $15 a student he could place CCC workers in university and provide them with an education.

The Costigan amendment was defeated, 56 to 32. Administration forces believed use of the appropriation for "relief and work-relief" adequately covered the measure's purposes.

SHERIFF HALTS HUNGER STRIKE IN OKLAHOMA

Three Hundred Evicted From McAlester, Okla., Courthouse Today

McALESTER, Okla., March 12.—(UP)—Officers directed by the sheriff and police chief today evicted 300 hunger strikers from the Pittsburgh county courthouse.

The eviction climaxed a demonstration of unemployed men and women from the coal mining region. The hunger strikers and demonstrators had been here since Thursday.

They demanded of state relief officials jobs and rations. Their leaders spurned offers of temporary relief offered by Gov. E. W. Marland.

"We're going to stay right here until we hear something definite from the governor or the legislature," they said.

ROOSEVELT'S NAME BROUGHT INTO HEARING

"Big Navy" Enthusiast is Witness Before Stormy Committee Meet

WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—William B. Shearer, self-styled "big bass drum" of American shipbuilders, said today he would "assume responsibility" for mentioning President Roosevelt in a pamphlet he wrote in 1928 entitled "The Cloak of Benedict Arnold."

Shearer testified at a stormy session of the senate munitions hearing.

Shearer said he wrote the document to "bare the intrigue" of the 1927 Geneva arms conference. It was financed, he added, by "the shipbuilders."

Mr. Roosevelt's name was included in a list of those who

Business At Standstill Over Island

HAHAVANA, March 12.—(UP)—The government proscribed the death penalty today for persons who by acts of sabotage interfere with the food, light, power and water services, but the revolutionary general strike continued to spread economic paralysis through the island.

Death was decreed also for bombers and persons who attack government forces.

Offenders will be tried by summary courts under the state of war proclaimed to meet the challenge of the strikers to the administration of President Carlos Mendieta.

Prison terms were proscribed for government employees who agree to engage in progressive strikes—one group of employees after another going out—and for persons who commit acts of sabotage in order to maintain a strike.

Secretary of Labor Gaspar Rodriguez ordered dissolution of all striking labor unions.

Soldiers patrolling the streets tried to force bus drivers to remain at work.

President Mendieta expressed confidence of victory.

"The strikers' cause is lost," he told the United Press correspondent. "This is not false optimism but the result of cold observation. The public employees want to return to work. The people want peace, tranquility and work."

"It is my desire to hold an election, and then I hope to retire to my home."

JUDSON DOKE GETS 10 YEAR SENTENCE

OAKLAND, Cal., March 12.—(UP)—Judson C. Doke, who escaped a penalty for the slaying of Lamar Hollingshead, lover of his "White Hibiscus" wife, today was sentenced to serve from one to 10 years in San Quentin prison for embezzling $19,450 from funds of the city of San Leandro.

Doke received the sentence differently. He presented the same stoical appearance that characterized his manner in the rural courtroom at Woodland, where a jury exonerated him of slaying his attractive wife's university-poet lover.

MID-WEST AND SOUTH STATES FACING FLOODS

Thousands of Persons Reported Driven Out of Homes by Waters

(By United Press)

FLOODS menaced sections of eight mid-west and mid-south states today. Thousands of persons were driven from homes. Widespread crop and property damage was done. High winds, reaching tornado force in Mississippi, added to the havoc.

Several persons were injured in the demolition of homes by strong winds.

Roads were impassable. Trains were delayed.

States involved were Tennessee, Illinois, Arkansas, Kentucky, Alabama, Missouri, Indiana and Mississippi. Kennett, Mo., faced the possibility of a duplication of the serious flood of 1933, with the St. Francis river expected to rise to the 27-foot level.

High waters in the upper Ohio river valley and continued rains threatened northern Kentucky, southern Illinois and Indiana.

A tornado swept Pontotoc, Miss., damaging scores of buildings between $200,000 and $500,000. Twelve persons were injured.

Conditions elsewhere:

St. Francis, Black and White rivers in the Ozarks bore the brunt of the flood menace in the mid-south. A stage of 38 feet on the White river was expected for tomorrow at Batesville, Ark.

St. Francis was 25.7 feet, or 5.7 feet above flood stage, at Fisk, Mo. The Ohio river overflowed near Union City, Tenn.

Five persons injured by demolition of structures at Russellville, Ark.

The Ohio river sent its tribute.

INSULL ACQUITTED ON FRAUD CHARGES

CHICAGO, March 12.—(UP)—Samuel Insull, loser in one of the most expensive financial battles of the early depression days, faced the future with a new lift in his sagging shoulders today as victor in a two-year court battle against the threat of jail bars.

A criminal court jury acquitted the 75-year-old financier at 12:01 a. m. of charges that he embezzled $68,000 from the Middle West Utilities company while chairman of its board of directors.

State and federal attorneys intimated before the trial that they would drop further charges against him if he were found not guilty. He is under indictment on another state embezzlement charge and a federal accusation of violating bankruptcy laws but in view of his acquittal in November on mail fraud charges and again last night on embezzlement charges the prosecutors feel further court action would be futile.

FLEES INTO EXILE WITH REBEL STAFF

Ambitions of Former Premier Shattered as Loyal Troops in Command

CRETE IS RECAPTURED

Americans Held Practically Prisoners of War Rejoiced With People

BULLETIN

ROME, March 12.—(UP)—Eleutherios Venizelos, 71-year-old leader of the unsuccessful rebellion through which he hoped to overthrow the Greek government, fled into exile today on the Italian Dodecanese islands.

The defeated rebel leader left his "capital," on the island of Crete, with his staff aboard the cruiser Averoff, flagship of the rebel navy, abandoning three destroyers in Canea harbor. The flight of Venizelos appeared to put a temporary end to his long career as a statesman and a distinguished figure in the councils of Europe.

Soon the government received word that he had landed on Cassos island, 35 miles westward of Crete, and that the Averoff was returning toward Greece presumably to surrender.

American Rejoice

Fifteen Americans rejoiced with the townspeople of ancient Seres today at the collapse of the revolt and the entrance of General George Condylis and his loyalist army.

Col. William J. Judge of New York, told the United Press that he and other Americans practically had been prisoners of war all week. They were not permitted by the rebels, he said, to send or receive messages and were compelled to remain in their homes.

"The campaign may be considered as finished," Condylis told the United Press. "Seres was the last stronghold."

TANKER OPERATORS BLAMED FOR STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—(UP)—Union leaders today blamed the "stubbornness" of tanker operators in refusing to accept the international seamen's union as the reason for the present coast-wide strike affecting oil tankers and their crews.

Eugene Burke and George Larson, spokesmen for the union, said the tanker operators had refused to live up to their agreement to accept the I. S. U. as the representative of the majority of their employees in collective bargaining.

The men selected the union as their bargaining representative in a ballot conducted by the national longshoremen's board which adjudge the Pacific Coast maritime strike of the summer of 1934, the union leaders said.

EASTERN TOWNSEND CLUBS BREAK OVER

BOSTON, March 12.—(UP)—The New England Federation of Townsend clubs has declared its independence from the national organization and its founder, Dr. Francis E. Townsend of California.

It was announced that henceforth no membership fees would be sent to California. All funds will be used for organization in New England.

J. Willard Carr, director of the lecture division, said:

"Dr. Townsend and his highly-paid officials have been riding in airplanes all over the country. As the result and because the federation has been given no financial return for the membership fees, the federation has suffered. We are spending our own money and are laboring simply for love."

Shearer wrote, advocated American membership in the world court. The article was preceded by the title, "Knave or Fool?" Shearer said inspiration for the article came from editorials in Hearst newspapers opposing the court.

"Do you want to hide behind the skirts of a newspaper publisher?" asked Sen. Homer D. Bone, D., Wash.

"I don't hide behind anything," Shearer shouted, jumping up. "Sit down," said Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich. "Isn't it a fact that you have likened Mr. Roosevelt to Benedict Arnold?"

Included Name
"No," Shearer said. "I'm merely including him among those who wanted to see the United States in the League of Nations court."

"Whether Hearst gave you the idea or not, do you take responsibility for writing it?" Vandenberg continued.

"Yes," Shearer said, adding that Mr. Roosevelt "was not president in 1923."

"Well, are you so cowardly that you wouldn't indict him now because he is president?" Bone interrupted.

Jumping up again, Shearer walked toward the committee table, shaking his fist. "I don't like your implication," he said.

"Go back to your seat," shouted Chairman Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D. "All right," Shearer said, "only stop hurling that cowardly stuff."

The "big navy" enthusiast, whose activities at Geneva were investigated by a special senate committee in 1929, described himself as a close friend of the navy department who received confidential military data to help his campaigns.

Attends Conference
He said Admiral William V. Pratt, retired chief of naval operations, requested him to attend the 1935 conference and that he was given a "blue book of naval intelligence."

"Even I wouldn't be permitted to see that document," Bone said. "How did you, a private citizen, obtain it?"

"Because I was known as a champion of the naval cause," Shearer answered.

He said he had been "persecuted by the shipbuilders, the Carnegie Peace Foundation, Bernard

M. Baruch, and practically every peace society in the land." As "unpatriotic" citizens he listed Nicholas Murray Butler, Carrie Chapman Catt, Newton D. Baker, George B. Wickersham, Col. Edward M. House, adviser to President Wilson, and others.

SHERIFF HALTS HUNGER STRIKE IN OKLAHOMA

More than 800 persons, including women and children, remained in the courthouse and made their beds in the courtroom. There was much talk of violence.

This morning Sheriff H. H. Sherrill issued an ultimatum that unless the strikers were out of the courthouse by 6 a. m. he would run them out with gas bombs.

The sheriff dispatched the ultimatum and his personal check for $100 to buy breakfast for the group.

A few minutes before 6 o'clock all but 50 of the strikers were out of the building. The hold-outs were scattered throughout the courthouse.

With the aid of Chief of Police Tom Abbott, a dozen patrolmen and deputies, Sheriff Sherrill rushed the building and cleared it in a few minutes. Officers used night sticks and well directed kicks but no tear gas.

After leaving the courthouse the strikers went to the railroad station where officers again dispersed them.

A. L. Swinney, unemployed leader, said the group would go to Krebs and hold a protest meeting tonight.

H. B. DeMolay To Hold Card Party

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—Huntington Beach chapter of DeMolay, will sponsor a card party at Memorial hall the evening of March 13 at 8 o'clock. Bridge, "500" and pinocle games will be played. Prizes will be given in all games. Tickets may be secured from any member of the DeMolay order.

HUGH JOHNSON IS FLAYED BY REV. COUGHLIN

ment to ask persons of like views to express themselves. Their response, he said, would determine his future course.

Political observers felt sure Coughlin's reply to Johnson's denunciation was merely the beginning of a furious controversy likely to occupy the American public and the radio for months.

Coughlin pledged himself to an unending fight against the forces which he said Johnson represented. Johnson last night spoke of fighting Coughlin through their own medium—"the radio."

Since Long delivered his reply last week, no one has doubted that he was "in" the fight to the finish.

Coughlin's speech was militant, challenging. He minced no words. He defended himself eloquently against Johnson's charge, voiced his admiration for President Roosevelt. Often he addressed Johnson direct, referring to him in vocal inflections that conveyed a multitude of emotions ranging from loathing contempt to heart-felt pity, as "my dear General."

Denounces Johnson
This denunciation of the former NRA administrator was contained in snatches and bits throughout his long address, but was centered in an eloquent climax.

"Gen. Johnson, your enemies and if I must say it, some of your fairweather friends, have heaped upon my desk the record of your personal life. I disdain to refer to it."

"Need I remind you, however, that of old it was said that Christ stirreth up the multitudes; that he was a wine bibber, a consorter with sinners? Or need you remind me how the Master, crowned with thorns which were woven by the finger of the money changers, nailed to the cross by the spikes which were forged in the furnace of hatred, said:

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do." Dare I claim title to Christianity and forget that prayer?"

"My dear Gen. Johnson, I am not important, nor are you. But the doctrines which I preach are important. While you are content to vomit your venom upon my person and against my character, the American public is fully cognizant that not once did you dare attack the truths which I teach. I need not condemn you before the court of public opinion. You have condemned yourself. More than that you have appeared before a jury of 80,000,000 people—your own figures—who through your lack of Christian charity and justice are today prejudiced against you. Those "cry babies" whose tears have welled in their eyes because you and your kind have lashed them at the pillar of poverty; those brothers and sisters of Christ whom you and your masters have crowned with the thorns of worry and insecurity; these sterling American citizens whom you first fastened to the cross of hunger and nakedness and then pierced their hearts with the spear of exploitation—these inarticulate people from whom I speak will never forget you and your Wall Streeters."

"These people, so you have intimated, are rats being led by the pied piper. Must that be the metaphor which you employ to describe the wreckage which your kind has created?"

Not Fearful
"I am well apprised of the fact that your own vociferous volubility which you characterized last Monday night as 'howling,' is but the opening gun in a well organized attack against me," he said. "I fear it not because I am protected by the moral support of the 'cry babies' and the 'rats' whom you have formed into the ranks of the National Union for Social Justice. Therefore, I shall doubly bend my efforts to the task of handing back America to the Americans and of rescuing our beloved country from the hands of the internationalists."

Coughlin's address, in effect, was divided into three sections:

1. His personal reply, item by item, to the specific charges Johnson made against him last Monday night.

2. An impassioned denunciation of the monetary system and international bankers and bankers generally.

3. A review of his political record, and a statement of his hopes for the nation in the future.

GEN. JOHNSON PLANS ANOTHER RADIO TALK
WASHINGTON, March 12.—(UP)—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson today planned another radio speech to carry forward his campaign to exterminate the influence of "this pair of political termites"—Father Charles E. Coughlin and Sen. Huey P. Long.

Following up the general's call to "thinking Americans" to join his campaign, his secretary, Miss Frances Robinson, said "he is going to go on the air" to answer Father Coughlin's address last night.

"The speech probably will be made within a week," she said. Father Coughlin, answering Johnson's original denunciation of him and Long as "Pied Pipers" of revolution, called the former NRA head a "chocolate soldier," a demagogue and a servant of the "money changers," particularly of Bernard M. Baruch.

Popular response to Johnson's appeal for support in his campaign against the priest and Long could not be gauged immediately. It was pointed out that his statement appeared only in the late editions of morning papers and would not be read generally until today.

MORE LIBERAL FINANCING FOR CITRUS PROPERTIES EXPECTED; CHIEF APPRAISERS COMING

Success now looms as the probable outcome in the long and determined fight of the Orange County Farm Debt Adjustment committee to obtain more liberal financing from the Farm Credit Administration for local citrus properties, it was announced at last night's meeting of the body by Chairman O. T. Stephens.

Stephens said he had received a heavy, pre-depression obligations, communication from T. C. Tucker, director of the state committee and director of the debt-aid program in California, advising that FCA dignitaries have decided to send senior appraising officials to Orange county to meet with the committee and go over all phases of the problem with a view to changing the previous policy of the Federal Land Bank with respect to loans on the orange and lemon groves. Field investigation of representative properties will be involved.

The movement was first agitated by The Register over a year ago. Ever since its establishment by the late Governor Ralph almost a year ago the farm debt organization has vigorously protested the loan allowances made on this class of security, contending they were too scant to be of material assistance to Orange county growers in adjusting their possession of Crete for the government and General Dedeas resumed command of the military forces. Both had been held as hostages by rebels, to prevent execution of captured rebels.

Camenos despairingly sent a radio message to Venizelos, entreating him to send the Averoff to the rescue of the fleeing rebel chiefs.

It was learned that the rebels appropriated more than 300,000,000 drachmas ($2,850,000) from banks in the rebel areas, including 70,000,000 drachmas ($665,000) from the branch of the national bank at Drama. Half the latter sum was recovered by the government from the baggage of rebels in the town of Xanthi.

It was learned that officers of the rebel cruiser-minelayer Helle which surrendered at Cavalla yesterday escaped in the submarine Katsonia, bound for an undisclosed destination. It was reported that they had with them 1,500,000 drachma ($14,250) which Mme. Venizelos paid them.

Camenos despairingly sent a radio message to Venizelos, entreating him to send the Averoff to the rescue of the fleeing rebel chiefs.

It was learned that the rebels appropriated more than 300,000,000 drachmas ($2,850,000) from banks in the rebel areas, including 70,000,000 drachmas ($665,000) from the branch of the national bank at Drama. Half the latter sum was recovered by the government from the baggage of rebels in the town of Xanthi.

A gospel team from Los Angeles will present the program at the prayer service planned to follow the dinner in the church primary room. The Rev. F. Stanley Powles, acting pastor of the church, will preside. A brief business meeting of the members of the board of trustees and of the church cabinet is scheduled.

BOARD ORDERS ORDINANCE TO BE PREPARED

The county supervisors today instructed Deputy District Attorney W. F. Menton, their legal advisor, to draft an ordinance prohibiting walkathons, dance marathons, pole sittings and similar exhibitions within unincorporated territory of the county. This action followed a protest filed by civic leaders of Santa Ana, who appeared before the board.

The ordinance will be considered by the supervisors next Tuesday, probably as an emergency measure. It is not known how closely the draft will follow the Los Angeles city and county ordinances against such events, copies of which were laid before the board today by the protesting delegation.

Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, president of the Santa Ana council, P. T. A., was principal spokesman for the delegation today. She termed walkathons and similar public endurance contests to be objectionable forms of entertainment, detrimental to physical, mental and moral conditions.

Referring to the walkathon now being conducted near Santa Ana, she said: "The county is receiving no license fee from this marathon. It is being promoted by men from outside our county; even the rental of the building going to a Long Beach man. It is giving the community nothing but an undesirable type of entertainment. Yet we must police the place; if a fire breaks out, our fire departments will be called out, and in a case of complete exhaustion, our county hospital may be expected to care for these people, who are, for the most part, from outside the county."

"Los Angeles and Long Beach both have closed up these walkathons. In Long Beach it was found that it was seriously affecting school attendance, with an average of 10 children a day skipping school to attend.

"Such an entertainment as this is a sad commentary on civilization. It is a type that Orange county is not in the habit of providing for its citizens. Only a few hours under way, already the contestants are shuffling round the floor, the girls supporting men who are asleep on their shoulders, or in their arms. One girl contestant, who was announced as 'seriously sick' was applauded for continuing her plodding way about the small floorpace, upheld by her partner."

"Such things can be closed up, eventually, by proving that they are a nuisance, but why should we have to prove this every time such a racket starts up in the county? We consider walkathons and similar types of amusement extremely undesirable, and earnestly request that an ordinance be passed prohibiting them."

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church of Santa Ana, and president of the Santa Ana Ministerial union, addressed the board briefly, as did the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, pastor of the United Presbyterian church of Santa Ana. They stressed the moral undesirability of the walkathon, and expressed the belief that "the decent citizens of the county do not want such entertainment, and that it is not up to the high standard that we have come to expect of our county."

Harrison White, executive of the Boy Scouts of Orange county, emphasized the character building work of the Scout organization and said that there is already too much work to be done, without deliberately providing such undesirable environment for young people.

"The people of the community must set a better example for its young people," he said.

Supervisor N. E. West of Laguna Beach, expressed disapproval of the walkathon, and Chairman John Mitchell commented that, from his observation, it appeared that the attendance was chiefly "foreigners and SERA people."

The delegation was told that the board would take the matter under advisement.

BEFORE VOTERS
Rolla R. Hays, just completing his first term on the Santa Ana board of education, today announced his candidacy for a second term.

An award in the dispute between Mexican laborers and Japanese vegetable growers of Orange county will be given tomorrow by the special arbitration board which heard presentation of evidence in Santa Ana last week, it was learned today from S. H. Strathman of Placentia, a member of the board.

Although the Mexican laborers submitted a brief of legal arguments to the board, no additional evidence or presentation was made by the Japanese, and the original date of the decision was moved forward from Friday to tomorrow. The board includes Thomas Barker, state labor official from Los Angeles, the Rev. Graham Hunter of Fullerton, representing the laborers, and Strathman, representing the growers.

The arguments of the laborers, signed by Lucas Lucio, representative of the Mexican consul here, maintain that any industry which cannot pay a decent wage has no right to exist and that Japanese farmers should pay rates in keeping with American wages.

A petition included in the brief set forth minimum demands, including recognition of the right to bargain collectively, without discrimination being made against members of the Mexican federation; salaries to consist of 30 cents per hour for permanent work (three weeks or more), 35 cents per hour for temporary work (less than three weeks), 35 cents for overtime permanent work and 45 cents for overtime temporary work; a nine hour day; same salaries for women as men; abolition of the contract system;

Provision of housing for growers or ranchers, including water, lights and wood, for employees when they reside on premises; no hiring of minors under 16 years of age; workers to be guaranteed a full day's work; and pay day to be Friday of each week.

The Japanese have contended that they are unable to pay higher wages because of the drop in market prices, subsequent loss of profits, and destruction of some crops by rain and frost.

Dr. Roy Smith To Speak for Forum
An interesting discussion of Far East problems and conditions is scheduled for tonight when Dr. Roy Smith, pastor of the First M. E. church of Los Angeles, will speak at the Santa Ana Valley Forum at the Ebell clubhouse, according to Dr. Frederick Roman, forum director. Dr. Smith made a trip to Manchuria and the Orient last summer, and will give an analysis of his reactions to conditions as he found them.

HENDERSON TO MAKE REPORT ON CONVENTION
Combined with the report of City Superintendent Frank A. Henderson of his recent attendance at the National Education association convention in Atlantic City, New Jersey, will be a broad survey of the Santa Ana school system and its developments under the present administration, in the form of reports to be made at the board of education meeting tonight.

Miss Huberteen Kueneman, elementary supervisor; Principal Mary Andrews, of McKinley school; and Principal Lottie Sweet, of Franklin school; Miss Gertrude Potts, McKinley teacher; and Miss Grace Bell, Lowell school teacher, will represent the elementary department. The principals will discuss the change in the plan of semester promotions to annual promotions recently adopted. The teachers will present the results of the so-called integrated, or activity, program, it is stated.

Principal Lyle Mitchell, of Willard Junior High school, and Principal H. G. Nelson, of Lathrop Junior High; Principal D. K. Hammond, of the high school; and Dean McKee Flick, of the junior college, will report on their branches of the school system.

W. W. Wieman, director of FERA work in the schools; Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education; and Thomas Williams, instructor in the printing department at the high school, will tell of their work.

ROLLA R. HAYS COUNTY AGREES TO POST CASH SCHOOL BOARD FOR DREDGING
The county supervisors today authorized the posting of $25,000 in cash as bond for the government dredging operations across the property of Sarah Ann Newcomb in Newport harbor, during the pendency of injunction litigation now before the federal court.

Unable to get a surety bond, because the bonding companies required the posting of collateral as security, which the county could not do, the board decided to post the cash, saving a $250 bond premium. A resolution to that effect, introduced by Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, was adopted.

Forced to dredge around the edge of the Newcomb tract, instead of through it, the government dredgers have been operating at an additional cost of $600 per day, engineers estimated, while waiting for the supervisors to act.

The county is required, by its contract with the government, to provide rights-of-way for the dredging.

Unpaid and "uncollectible" bills of part-pay patients at the county hospital, were officially crossed off the books and cancelled today by the supervisors, on motion of W. C. Jerome, the list including 66 accounts aggregating $1647.70. Board members commented that, even so, a good job of collecting had apparently been done; one that private concerns might envy. Some other unpaid bills have been turned over to the welfare department for an attempt at collection.

Blanche A. Dillon today was appointed by the board as girl's matron at the juvenile home, at a salary of $65 per month, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Matron Barnum.

John Kettler was named director of Westminster Drainage district, to fill the vacancy left by Carl Lindman, of Barber City, elected official who failed to qualify.

ROLLA R. HAYS COUNTY AGREES TO POST CASH SCHOOL BOARD FOR DREDGING

The county supervisors today authorized the posting of $25,000 in cash as bond for the government dredging operations across the property of Sarah Ann Newcomb in Newport harbor, during the pendency of injunction litigation now before the federal court.

Unable to get a surety bond, because the bonding companies required the posting of collateral as security, which the county could not do, the board decided to post the cash, saving a $250 bond premium. A resolution to that effect, introduced by Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach, was adopted.

Forced to dredge around the edge of the Newcomb tract, instead of through it, the government dredgers have been operating at an additional cost of $600 per day, engineers estimated, while waiting for the supervisors to act.

The county is required, by its contract with the government, to provide rights-of-way for the dredging.

Unpaid and "uncollectible" bills of part-pay patients at the county hospital, were officially crossed off the books and cancelled today by the supervisors, on motion of W. C. Jerome, the list including 66 accounts aggregating $1647.70. Board members commented that, even so, a good job of collecting had apparently been done; one

AMPLIFICATION

In the hidden possibilities behind the Greek revolution, you have the best possible inside view of Europe today.

The Greek trouble sounded no louder in world affairs than a remote quarrel in a remote family. What made it more important than it appeared to be was the fact that there are sensitive diplomatic amplifiers throughout Europe which at any time may catch up such insignificant sounds and transmit them into shrieking gun thunder in every capital in the world.

One is across the Greek border in Bulgaria. Since the war, Bulgaria has been living in hopes of reclaiming a commercial outlet to the Aegean sea through Greece. She sensed the opportunity presented by internal strife in Greece. Her troops moved up to the Thrace border at the first sound of the Greek dispute.

This troop movement was heard at once in Turkey. The Turks have a secret alliance with the Greeks to prevent just such a step. Immediately Turkey began to concentrate troops on her Bulgarian frontier.

Any trouble between Turkey and Bulgaria would immediately drag in most of the other Balkan powers. They are bound by treaty to come to Turkey's assistance.

But that would be only the beginning. Behind Turkey stands France. The French are friends of the Turks and have been cool toward Bulgaria since Bulgaria refused to join in the Little Entente pact of French allies.

Bulgaria has greater hidden power behind her also. Italy has been backing her as a wedge in the anti-Italian Little Entente and as a threat against Yugoslavia.

Italy's traditional enemy, which borders on Bulgaria, is behind France and Italy the amplification possibilities are obvious and endless.

SYSTEM
Best U. S. authorities agreed the maximum amplification possibilities probably would not be reached this time, but they cannot tell when the next far-away match-scratch will split their eardrums at home.

The secret line-up in Europe constantly shifts, but never changes. The system is substantially the same as it was twenty-one years ago when it promoted the World War.

WET POWDER
A clever Congressman has dug up privately an old forgotten law which says:

"No money appropriated by any act of Congress shall be used for the compensation of any publicity expert unless specifically appropriated for that purpose."

This would seem to illegalize the part of the New Deal press agent system, because money was not specifically appropriated for most of the new publicity men (NRA, FWA, AAA, FEA, ETC.). The law went into effect October 22, 1913 (title 5, No. 54, and annotated statutes, U. S.), and has never been repealed, but—

Apparently the New Dealers knew about it, even if no one else did. At least they appear to have taken steps to circumvent it. For one thing, they have very rarely neglected to designate most of their publicity men as such on the pay roll. Instead these employees are generally called "administrative assistants" or other fancy things.

Also, some of the New Deal appropriations carry blanket authority to hire and fire anyone. The Federal Housing Administration Act, for instance, authorizes employment "without regard to the provisions of other laws...."

Thus, a planned sensational explosion may fail to explode, although you very probably will hear something said on the subject in Congress shortly.

VOTING
Legal cat-skinning tricks these days are not confined to New Dealers.

The Tennessee Valley Authority recently has received information that a power company in a Southern city has found a neat device to qualify its voters in the referendum on building a municipal power plant. The power company is supposed to have 156 employees living outside the city limits, who could not vote under the city law.

These employees are supposed to have chipped in to buy a $50 lot in the city. Thus they all become city property holders and eligible voters, although their holding amounts to about 35 cents each.

BRIBERY
Another sensation which has failed to register involved a bribery charge against a Congressman by a Commerce Department official. The matter has been kept private and probably will remain so, because it seems to have been based on a misunderstanding. The Congressman went to the official and urged the reappointment of an employee in the air field inspection service, probably saying: "It would be worth $1000 to me to get this job."

The official thought the Congressman was offering him a $1000 bribe and reported the matter to his superiors. A hullabaloo ensued. Commerce Secretary Roper, after investigation, concluded that his subordinate had misunderstood the Congressman. Roper then reappointed the airfield employee.

NEW YORK
By James McMullen

TIDE
On the surface of the official allocation of a mere $100,000,000 for rural electrification in the work-relief program looks like a lovely break for the utilities. It seems to indicate that the government is tapering off its power to compete with private companies in a hurry. But the power boys aren't doing any premature celebrating.

Their eyes are glued to a large-sized joker in the deck—the provision that $800,000,000 of work relief funds can be switched from one category to another at the President's discretion. It looks to them as if they are being granted a reprieve during good behavior. One leader says: "I regard the small electric appropriation as a premium for docility."

But that doesn't mean the industry is going to be docile. Power interests are enormously elated at their success in mobilizing security holders against the holding company bill. They feel that the tide has swung in their favor at last—and intend to ride it to a finish regardless of concealed clubs.

TOOTHLESS
Utility men can't quite figure whether Robert E. Healy of the Securities and Exchange Commission is friend or foe. His proposal to amend the holding company law to allow "sound" groups continued existence looks like an important concession in their favor—but they're leery of New Deal agents bearing gifts. It's noted that the life or death decision would be in the hands of the Commission and that prospect doesn't appeal at all.

There will certainly be no rush on the part of utility interests to call off their hounds and let the amended bill slide through unchallenged. They figure they have the administration backing water and intend to press their advantage. Many leaders feel the bill can be killed outright—and that's the primary objective now. Failing that, the best hope is to compel Congress to perform an act of dentistry which will leave a high-sounding piece of legislation as toothless as a month-old babe.

Don't lay any bets that they won't get away with it. Now that they've gotten into the furnace room they'll give a sweet demonstration of how to turn on the heat.

COAL
The soft coal industry is gradually reviving an old-time technique of dealing with labor. The system is to shut down a mine—then reopen it a little later under lease to a new company. The lessee is owned or controlled by the old concern—but that fact is kept off the record. It has been used in the past to keep the union contracts and does its hiring below union standards of wages and hours. Usually the same workers take the jobs offered—they have to—but they keep their union cards hidden in their shoes and forget about the terms they are supposed to demand.

This stunt was worked widely and successfully some years ago in a period of falling prices—when operators felt they either had to slash wage costs or quit business. Now it has begun again in small mines here and there in an effort to get out from under John L. Lewis' closed shop domination. But insiders predict it won't be so easy to put it over this time. Prices have been kept at a high level—so there isn't that excuse. Also the workers are much better organized than they were before. Lewis is aware of the situation and it is one of the chief factors behind the scenes leading toward a strike. Experts on the management side predict that this time—if a walkout develops—the unions will win hands down.

One important Pennsylvania property mined 2,000,000 tons of coal last year with a total labor turnover of only eight men. Its owners felt quite secure against labor difficulties. But it's an exception.

RAILS
New York experts have done a lot of figuring on what will happen if the Interstate Commerce Commission approves the railroads' application for higher freight rates. They do it that the average increase in gross revenue would amount to about 5 per cent.

But the carriers specializing in coal would gain to the tune of about 8 per cent. That's ironic. The coal roads generally are already much better off than other carriers.

The average increase in revenue to the non-coal roads would thus be reduced to less than 4 per cent—which insiders say will be about as much good to them as a sprig of parsley to a hungry lumberjack.

AIM
The motor industry is watching for a strike in the body plants in the near future. This would be in line with the Federation of labor strategy recently mentioned here which aims to tie up the whole industry by calling out a comparatively few workers. The body men are better organized than most of the others—and it's obvious that there isn't much point to building chassis if no bodies are forthcoming.

Insiders understand that the chief union objective is the "check off"—whereby employers deduct union dues in advance from their workers' pay and hand them over to union treasuries.

DOGS
Keen observers remark that there is no abatement in gambling just because the securities markets are under legislative wraps. The numbers racket—currently the subject of belated but feverish inquiry by New York officials—has lately been flourishing as never before. Originally this was a Harlem diversion—but in the past year it has spread all over the city.

New York learns that the Buckingham and Narragansett race-tracks in New England have taken in over $4,000,000 on the mutual machine in the past two seasons. The Rockingham track cleared its entire $1,500,000 investment from admissions and the betting raffle in that period. Legalized dog-racing is also expected to add something to New England's expenses for chasing Lady Luck.

Comment runs that people evidently propose to indicate their gambling propensities regardless. The difference is that many which went into the stock market in the old days now goes to the dogs—and horses.

SENATE TAKES UP TOWNSEND'S OLD AGE PLAN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 12.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam explained his unqualified endorsement of the Townsend old age pension plan today as the senate moved slowly toward a vote on a resolution urging congress to adopt the Townsend act in its entirety. Assembly approval of the resolution yesterday was preceded and followed by charges that the governor had broken faith, played politics and exhibited political motives.

To these charges, Merriam said: "That's all right. That is so mild in comparison with what I have heard during the past year that it doesn't amount to anything."

In explaining his unexpected recommendation for legislative approval of the Townsend plan in all its details, the governor said Townsend backers had appealed for more support. He traced developments of pension demands back through the campaign against the legislature, in special session last fall, adopted a resolution favoring old age pensions. The Republican party convention passed a resolution mentioning the Townsend plan. The Democrats adopted a resolution favoring pensions but not mentioning the Townsend act. During the campaign, Merriam endorsed the Townsend plan on two occasions.

In January, the assembly passed a resolution favoring old age pensions. It was approved by the senate and sent to Washington. The senate later passed a resolution urging congressional investigation and enactment of legislation under principles of the Townsend act.

A bill recommending that congress incorporate principles of the plan in an old age pension program encountered opposition in the assembly last week. Merriam then asked full approval of the Townsend measure, without qualification.

The Townsend people appealed to me for more favorable action in the assembly," he said. "You know what happened from then on. They (referring to legislators) have charged me with bad faith, political motives, cheap politics. That's all right."

Merriam said he favored the Townsend plan for two main reasons. "Every time the question has arisen, there has been an expression in favor of old age pensions. There are just two plans before congress. One is the president's plan, which would provide $15 as a federal contribution, with matching provisions for the states. That plan is impossible. The only other plan is the Townsend act. "If the plan is not actually correct, that is a matter for congress to determine. It may be necessary for the tax to be higher or the payments lower than suggested by Dr. Townsend."

The governor said old age pensions should be "a federal matter entirely," and that states should have nothing to do with it. "I do not wish it understood that I am opposing the president," he explained. "I disagree with him on this pension subject."

Merriam said he had received 2000 telegrams since he endorsed the plan without reservation, and only 25 of them were opposed to the Townsend recommendations.

While the governor explained his attitude, both houses of the legislature proceeded through a variety of routine, technical bills, seeking to clear the way for more important legislation.

DRIVER EXONERATED AS CASE DISMISSED
The prosecution of Ralph Swartzell, 31, of Anaheim, charged with manslaughter, as the result of a fatal automobile wreck, was abandoned today in Superior Judge C. K. Scovel's court, and the prosecutor himself moved for dismissal of the case on the ground that he lacked sufficient evidence to show the offense had been committed.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis made the motion, which the court granted, just before the state had finished its case. The defense, therefore, was not called upon to present its evidence. Swartzell's trial had started yesterday before a jury.

The charge was based upon the death of Mrs. Una Kubias, 36, of Long Beach, in a crash last February 17, at the intersection of Chapman avenue and Harbor boulevard, west of the county hospital.

STATE RELIEVED IN HAUPTMANN APPEAL
TRENTON, N. J., March 12.—(UP)—Contributions to the Hauptmann defense fund have made it possible for the defense to relieve the state of the cost of appealing the conviction of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the murder of the Lindbergh baby, it was announced today.

Frederick A. Pope, of defense counsel, also announced after a conference with Attorney General David T. Wilentz, that the defense probably would move for postponement of the appeal hearing beyond the next term of the court of errors and appeals, opening May 21. The voluminous record of the trial may not be available for argument at that time, he added.

The following terms of the appeals court is in October, but Pope indicated he believed the court might decide to hear the case between terms.

PROF. PUPIN DIES IN NEW YORK CITY
NEW YORK, March 12.—(UP)—Prof. Michael I. Pupin, 76, Hungarian peasant boy who came to the United States seeking democracy and remained to revolutionize modern electrical transmission and research, died today at Columbia Presbyterian Medical center after an illness of several months.

Professor emeritus of electromechanics at Columbia university and internationally known as an inventor in the fields of wireless, telephony and the X-ray, Dr. Pupin has been an invalid for the past several years.

LITERARY MAGAZINE PUBLISHED AT J. C.
Tavern Post, literary publication of the Santa Ana Junior college Tavern Post, was issued yesterday to students of the local institution.

The magazine was edited by Phyllis Hannah who is also vice president of Tavern Post this semester. She was assisted by Edgar Ewing, Ruth Christ, James Torrens, and Ruth Warner, associate editors; Rodney Engel, business manager; and Albert Clark, art editor. The staff is advised by T. H. Glenn of the English department, and Thomas Williams, director of printing.

The semi-annual publication has 54 pages and includes a foreword by the editor; original contributions of junior college students; and "Tavern Tattle," information about the authors of the articles and the circumstances under which they are written. This is the sixth year of publication.

Master Chevrolet Models to Arrive In City Wednesday
Showing of the new Master de luxe Chevrolet models will be made for the first time in Santa Ana starting tomorrow at the B. J. MacMullen agency at First and Sycamore streets.

The buying motoring public has been awaiting the appearance of the de luxe models, MacMullen said, and deliveries are now being made on orders made for these models. Three models have been secured for the preview tomorrow and visitors to the showrooms will see the sedan, coupe and coach. For the convenience of the public, the garage will be open at night.

The new Master models, considerably larger and finer than the standard Chevrolets, have the new turret all steel top and the finest of appointments throughout the Fisher bodies. The car has a 113-inch wheelbase, has increased gasoline mileage, even finer riding comfort than the last year's models and has knee action at no extra cost at the option of the buyer, MacMullen declared.

"These Master models are offered at no increase in prices over last year's models," MacMullen said. "The 1935 Master Chevrolet coupe was voted first prize for the best looking car in the New York auto show, regardless of price of make. We have been handicapped because the cars were not available on the coast but starting tomorrow, we will display a full line.

ARREST STUDENTS FOR THEFT OF CAR
Two Tustin High school youths, one 16 years old and the other 17, were in the juvenile tank of the county jail today awaiting prosecution on grand theft charges arising from their confessed stealing of an automobile owned by Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, 407 West Santa Clara, county purchasing agent.

The boys were arrested by Assistant Chief Harry Fink and Motor Officer Ed Lents yesterday and admitted taking the Slabaugh car last Friday night on a "joyride to Long Beach." According to a story told officers, the youths saw the car in Slabaugh's garage, found the keys in the machine and drove it away. They took two young girls to Long Beach, deserted them there and returned to Santa Ana, where the car was abandoned early Saturday morning at Chestnut and Main streets.

Police received a tip that a Tustin boy had been seen in Long Beach with a car similar to the stolen machine. Further investigation led them to a Santa Ana boy attending Tustin High school, and finally to the other youth who was implicated.

It is expected that the boys will be turned over to the juvenile court when they are arraigned today or tomorrow in the Santa Ana justice court.

USES GASOLINE TO START FIRE; BURNED
Receiving first and second degree burns about the chest and back when gasoline exploded while he attempted to start a fire, Floyd Padias, 25, residing in the Santa Ana canyon, was taken to the Orange County hospital yesterday afternoon.

Padias was lighting a stove at his home with gasoline when the time of the blast. His clothing caught fire and he was seriously burned before the flames could be extinguished. He will be confined to the hospital for some time but will recover.

Stomach Upset
Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged intestines or constipation.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help the intestines in a soothing, healing way. When the bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested food? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

MINISTERS OF COUNTY HOLD MEET MONDAY

With a large group of pastors in attendance, a Bible conference was held at the Orange Methodist church yesterday, with the Rev. J. E. Dunning, district superintendent of Methodist churches, Dr. Dunning stated that the Bible was made for man and not man for the Bible. He said in part, "We are in danger of making a fetish of the Bible and to idolize it as a book when it is worth just as much as any other book unless it is opened and read. Then it becomes a part of the experience of the individual for reinforcement of the dynamics of living."

Mexican Trip To Be Subject For Lecture Tonight

Dr. Frank Loomis, of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the adult education department travel class at 7:15 o'clock tonight in the Willard Junior High school. It was announced today by Julia Ann Hyde, manager of the travel department of the Commercial National bank, who arranges the meetings.

Dr. Loomis has just returned from a 30-day cruise to Mexico and will discuss his tour at the travel class meeting. He will supplement his talk by showing motion pictures taken on the trip. The meeting is open without charge to anyone interested.

Teacher Honored By School Group

GARDEN GROVE, March 12.—The Scholarship society of the high school entertained in honor of Mrs. Marion Williams recently at the home of the Misses Joy and Fern Schnitzer on North Euclid avenue. After various games had been played the group presented Mrs. Williams with a gift. The honoree, who taught in the high school until the close of the first semester, is to be married soon to Dr. Burns Chaffee, of Long Beach.

Refreshments of juice and cake were served to the following: Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Eleanor Casady, Janice Dales, Jean Thurston, Margaret Phillips, Frances Chandler, Gertrude Allen, Richard Keele, Frances Merchant, Bob Wentz, Bill Nichols, Ansel Lewis, Ruth Leslie Mitchell, Barbara Dales and Joy and Fern Schnitzer.

TWICE AS MANY HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS AS BOYS REPORT THEY DRINK LIQUOR REGULARLY

By KENNETH ADAMS

Two per cent of Santa Ana high school girls, twice as many as the boys, drink liquor regularly. Two per cent of the girls also smoke regularly, but 11 per cent of the boys smoke regularly. Attending shows heads the list of popular places to go for both boys and girls, with dancing second. Girls list church attendance as third most popular activity, while with the boys church is in fourth place.

These were some of the illuminating facts brought out in the study course sponsored by the city council P.-T.-A. and adult education department last night in Willard Junior High School. Discussions were led by Mrs. Newell Moore, and the figures and facts presented were based on a recent questionnaire filled out by about 1000 high school students.

Twenty per cent of both boys and girls said they smoke occasionally; 73 per cent of the girls never smoke and 69 per cent of the boys never smoke. Thirteen per cent of the girls and 21 per cent of the boys said they drink occasionally.

Santa Ana High school has an unusually healthy crop of youngsters, the statistics showed, for three per cent of the boys and girls said they believed themselves to be in poor health; but three per cent of the girls were always tired, and but two per cent of the boys were always tired. Girls drink more coffee than the boys, and the boys drink more milk. Eighty per cent of the youths eat regularly between meals, which probably accounts for the regular raids on cookie jars.

Boys Retire Earlier

Ninety-four per cent of both boys and girls sleep well, which probably agrees with the belief of parents who try to get their children up in time for school. The girls, however, get up on an average, a little earlier than the boys, but as a whole the boys go to bed slightly earlier than their sisters. The average rising time for girls is 5:42 a. m. and for boys at 5:46 a. m., but the boys' average was maintained by a few who arise as early as 3:30 a. m. to carry paper routes. The peak hour when girls retire is 10 p. m. and for boys it is 9 p. m.

Attending shows is twice as popular with both girls and boys as all the rest of the places to go listed in the questionnaire. Next on the list for both groups is dancing. The third most popular place for girls is church and Sunday school, and others for the embryo women in the order of popularity are: clubs, Y. W. C. A., rides, visits, school affairs, skating rinks, out of town trips, library and work. Boys have more places to go, and the order of their popularity is as follows after shows and dances: visits, church and Sunday school, clubs, Y. M. C. A., sports, girls' house, down town, library, practice (mostly music), riding, out of town, parties, work, skating, lectures and National Guard.

How many "nights out" a week does the average high school youth have? The statistics showed that the average high school boy has two and two-thirds nights out while their sisters have two and a third nights out. Five per cent of the boys and girls have no nights out; 20 per cent of the boys and 17 per cent of the girls have one night; 30 per cent of the boys and 31 per cent of the girls have two nights; 22 per cent of the boys and 27 per cent of the girls have three nights; 10 per cent of the boys and 17 per cent of the girls have four nights; four per cent of the boys and three per cent of the girls have five nights. Monday night is the most popular with boys and Wednesday night with girls. Most of the nights out, however, are on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Thirty per cent of boys and girls go out on school nights.

Data on Car Use

Of the total number who answered the questionnaire, 73 boys have cars of their own, while 23 girls have cars of their own. There are 148 girls who are never allowed the use of the family car, and 115 boys in the same fix. There are 252 girls and 295 boys who can have the family car only occasionally, and 29 girls and 41 boys who say they can have the car any old time.

As a whole, both boys and girls rate themselves as being pretty smart, with only three per cent of the girls and four and a half per cent of the boys considering themselves dull. Only one per cent of the girls and two per cent of the boys consider themselves more brilliant than the average.

Thirty-one per cent of the girls and 43 per cent of the boys say they are even tempered, while 23 per cent of the girls and 14 per cent of the boys admit they have frequent outbursts of temper. There are 47 per cent of the girls and 43 per cent of the boys who worry only with cause.

Seventy per cent of the girls and 73 per cent of the boys consider themselves as having many friends, while five per cent of the girls and seven per cent of the boys have few friends. Only eight per cent of the girls preferred to go places with boys; 13 per cent of the girls preferred girls to boys, and 79 per cent preferred some of both. Only 55 per cent of the boys preferred some friends of both sex.

While last week the high school youths may have toppled dad and mother off their pedestals by criticism of their faults, at least they were honest enough to admit that they had the same faults themselves. Listed in the order of their importance to the youth, here are the faults of mother: she is emotional, nervous, critical, unreasonable, lacks appreciation and is too good to her children. Fathers were emotional, arrogant, obstinate, unpleasant, lack understanding, evasive, lack high enough morals and find fault.

Church Attendance

Interesting figures regarding attendance at church and Sunday school were given. Fifty-two per cent of the girls said they attend Sunday school regularly, 31 per cent occasionally and 16 per cent never. Forty-eight per cent of the boys attend Sunday school regularly, 23 per cent occasionally and 24 per cent never.

Thirty-six per cent of the boys attend church regularly, 43 per cent occasionally and 20 per cent never. Twenty-seven per cent of the girls attend church regularly, 42 per cent occasionally and 30 per cent never.

The girls said that 36 per cent of their parents attend church regularly, 34 per cent occasionally and 27 per cent never. The boys said 36 per cent of their parents attend church regularly, 42 per cent occasionally and 22 per cent never.

At the close of the discussions, Dr. E. L. Russell, of the Orange county health department, spoke briefly regarding adolescent children. He called attention to their difference mentally and physically between adolescents and adults, and said the proper way to teach them proper mental attitudes and behavior patterns is to teach them to be honest with themselves and to think fearlessly.

ASK REMOVAL OF ESTATE EXECUTOR

Removal of C. J. Laughlin as executor of the $6000 estate of the late Ella Burdick Withycombe, is asked in a superior court petition, which charges that Laughlin "has been under the influence of intoxicating liquor almost continuously, and by reason thereof has been unfit and unqualified to perform his duties as executor."

The ouster petition, filed by Mrs. Mable May Pollock, of Downey, sister of the deceased and one of the heirs, alleges that Laughlin has failed to pay any bills of the estate, although he has collected enough to pay all costs of the decedent's last illness; that he has mismanaged the estate, so that its assets are in danger of being dissipated.

Laughlin, the petition charges, has misused the house left by Mrs. Withycombe to him for use during his lifetime.

Under terms of the will, Mrs. Pollock will inherit the house when Laughlin is through with it. Mrs. Withycombe willed Laughlin a four per cent royalty interest in oil property at Huntington Beach, an equity in lots, a $300 note, and use of the house.

Mrs. Pollock, who was willed a two per cent royalty interest in the oil property, besides receiving the house at the termination of Laughlin's life, asks the court to appoint her executor of the estate in Laughlin's place.

INVITE PUBLIC TO CHURCH NIGHT TALK

"Can We Achieve an Economy of Abundance?" This popular and challenging subject will be discussed by Dr. Arthur G. Coone in his assembly address tomorrow evening on the Church Night program at the First Methodist church, according to announcement this morning from the offices of the church. Dinner is served at 6 o'clock and the address is at 8:45. The public is invited.

In the class sessions that follow the address, Mrs. Jennie Tessman, in her discussion of Trends in Education, will deal with "Crime or Constructive Living." J. F. Burke's subject will be "What Does the Development of Means of Transportation and Communication Portend in Inter-Relation of Races?" Dr. George A. Warner's class subject will be "Which is Paramount, the Bible or Life?" Arthur Cory's subject is "Educa-

Stories in STAMPS

STOWING away in a food cask on a vessel leaving Haiti for Porto Rico, a fugitive from bounding creditors, Vasco Nunez de Balboa began a career of exploration and conquest, more than 400 years ago, that ended with his discovery of the Pacific Ocean in 1513. For this enterprise, King Ferdinand of Spain made Balboa "Admiral del Mar del Sur," or "Admiral of the Pacific."

Today, this great explorer is honored even in stamps, one of which, shown here, is Panama's 400th anniversary issue of 1913.

Dr. Warner reports that attendance figures show that more than 400 people are attending these classes every week and that the interest is being maintained in a splendid way.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Roy J. Webb, district manager for the Orange county Townsend clubs, will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Laguna Beach Townsend club at the Woman's clubhouse tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The Buena Park Townsend club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Congregational church in one of the Bible Class rooms. Walter R. Robb from Santa Ana will be the speaker.

LYON TO RETURN SAFETY FILM FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

Recalled by popular demand, the safety picture "Highway Patrol" will be shown again in Santa Ana for the benefit of school children by Orval Lyon, Goodrich tire distributor at First and Broadway.

Through arrangements completed with Vic Walker, manager of Walker's State theater, nearly 700 children will be enabled to see the picture and a Harry Langdon comedy free of charge at 10 a. m. Saturday. Tickets will be secured at the Lyon store at 9:30 o'clock, after which the entire group of children will march to the theater at Fourth and Birch streets, accompanied by a motorcycle escort from the California Highway Patrol, which has given unqualified endorsement of the picture.

As an inducement to children to learn rules of safety and motorizing, Lyon will sponsor an essay contest for the children, which includes observing law violations in the Langdon comedy. Prizes of bicycle tires will be given the winners.

Motion pictures of the children marching will be taken by Lyon and shown at a later date at the theater.

Lyon has held two previous showings of the picture, one at Walker's State for officers and automotive men of the county, and again at the Temple theater for the public. The show runs two hours and is a wholesome and entertaining portrayal of the duties of highway patrolmen, the danger of violating the laws, and the necessity for good tires, Lyon pointed out.

Oaks' Roster Medley Of Youths, Veterans

(This is the seventh of a series of eight articles dealing with the prospects of Pacific coast league baseball teams.—Sport editor's note.)

OAKLAND, March 12.—(UP)—Take a snappy appearing bunch of rookies, add a dash of experienced players, sprinkle lightly with veterans, shake well, and you have the Oakland ball club.

All the ingredients of a pennant contender are found in this year's product of the Oakland baseball mill. And to top it off, guiding the destinies of the Oaks this year is none other than Oscar Vitt, who has had experience in winning pennants while at Hollywood. Vitt succeeds Ray Brubaker, pilot last year, who will be an umpire during 1935.

On paper the Oaks appear to have a well balanced team. Last year's outfit returns nearly intact. And to bolster the weak spots, and replace missing faces, Vitt has drawn on the reserves of the Yankees of the American league.

The Oaks are literally a farm for the big league team. Those who can't break into the Yankee line-up are given consideration by Oakland, and there are so many on hand at the Oaks' training quarters, and some of them are so good that it would be no great surprise if Vitt opened the league playing a Yankee infield.

Lyn Gabrielson, Oakland youth, and property of the Yankees, has been doing sensational fielding and batting. Manager Vitt may persuade the Yankees that inasmuch as Lou Gehrig is holding down first base for them they would have no use for Gabrielson.

'BOOKIES' COMPETE WITH PARI-MUTUEL

AGUA CALIENTE, March 12.—When Agua Caliente starts its "three-times-a-week" racing program Friday, sport lovers will obtain the thrills engendered by the old-time bookmaking sites.

The booking form of betting, in conjunction with pari-mutuels, is to be found in America only at Agua Caliente. The Wellington course at Ostend, and other tracks abroad, are the only other courses where both forms of wagering are presented for racing audiences.

Caliente's ring sits in with nine books, six in front of the grandstand, one in front of the clubhouse, one in the clubhouse and one beneath the stand. At the latter a foreign book on say Meadows and eastern racing will be an added attraction.

Japanese Copy O'Doul's Style In Green Suits

SAN FRANCISCO, March 12.—(UP)—The sartorial elegance of Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, former New York Giant outfielder and now manager of the San Francisco Seals, is something that speaks for itself.

When O'Doul led a troupe of American baseball stars to Japan last winter, he wore a bright green suit. The Japanese thought it no less than elegant.

As the Dai-Nippon ball team stepped down the gangplank here for a series of return games, the star third baseman, U. Shintomi, proudly sported an exact copy of the O'Doul-splendid green.

"Why the outfit?" he was asked through an interpreter. Shintomi was surprised: "Don't all ball players wear green suits in America?"

ENTER COUNTY HOOP SERIES

Trojans Head For L. A. With Basket Crown

CORVALLIS, Ore., March 12.—(UP)—After three successive years of effort, University of Southern California took back to Los Angeles today the Pacific Coast conference basketball championship.

Sam Barry's team won the title last night by defeating Oregon State 25-21, in a wild and exciting game, the deciding contest of a three-cornered series between the Southern division champions and representatives of the Northern division.

The only field goal scored by Ernie Holbrook, Trojan forward, was the deciding blow of a battle in which the lead shifted hands as often as a chameleon on a piece of plaid changes colors.

Holbrook got his crucial shot away in the last 30 seconds. Just ten seconds before Oregon State apparently had increased its one-point lead to three on a field goal by Tuttle, sub forward. But a vigilant official caught a Beaver fouling on the play and the score was nullified. Findlay, who took Lee Gutter's place at center for S. C. in the last 10 minutes, was given a chance to tie the score from the foul line.

Findlay missed and the ball rolled into a mass of struggling players. Holbrook came out of the pile with the ball in his possession. At mid-court he arched a shot toward the basket. His aim was true and the ball dropped through the hoop, giving Troy the two points which put them ahead. Before another three-year quest for the crown was reached.

The final game was the hardest and the roughest of the three played on the Oregon State court in the title series. Four players—Gutter and Oram of S. C. and Palmberg and Conkling of O. S. C.—were banished via the personal foul rule. Thirty personal fouls were called by the perspiring officials, Carl Landreth of Long Beach, Cal., and Archie Beckley of Spokane.

Gutter, who played about 30 minutes, led individual scorers with 12 points. His total for the series was 44. Captain George Hibbard was high man for the losers last night with eight points. The title was the third the Trojans have won since 1928. They defeated Washington that year and again in 1930. Oregon State defeated the Los Angeles school in 1933 and University of Washington whopped it in 1934.

GROVE'S TRACKMEN BEAT LAGUNA BEACH

Coach John Ward's Garden Grove high school track team opened its Orange league season with a dual meet victory over Laguna Beach, 73-30, at Garden Grove yesterday.

Garden Grove's Class B and C teams also won, 74-21 and 65-12, respectively. These two squads invade Santa Ana Friday for a meet with the combined Frances Willard and Julia Lathrop junior high schools.

Class A results:

FULLERTON TO SEEK PIRATE-SHEIK GAME

FULLERTON, March 12.—Motion picture work occupying most of the Hollywood players' attention, Manager Frank Shellenback had to sandwich his training schedule between shots here yesterday. Most of the Hollywood regulars are furnishing atmosphere for the picture, "Alibi Ike," a baseball story starring Joe E. Brown.

Brown, who made a personal appearance before the Angel-Star exhibition game Sunday, did not show up yesterday. With almost 2500 fans packed into the stands, Warner Brothers' cameramen got all the crowd shots they wanted Sunday afternoon and confined their work to various phases of the story, including a scene of a Model-T touring going through a panel of the fence.

Charles (Spider) Baum, Hollywood business manager, stated that a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates for the Fullerton Park is under consideration with the Fullerton chamber of commerce working out plans whereby the major league club of which Floyd (Arky) Vaughan of Fullerton is a member. It is not known whether the Pirates will consider another game as their training schedule has already been completed.

Dons to Open Conference Season Friday

Santa Ana jaycee's trackmen will inaugurate their fourth Eastern conference clincher season with Chaffey at Poly field Friday afternoon instead of Saturday, it was announced today.

The meet was moved ahead by Coaches Bill Cook of Santa Ana and Ernie Payne of Chaffey yesterday. The Friday date was preferred because a few athletes on both teams have employment which would prevent them from competing Saturday.

Always potent in track, the Dons have a collection of stars which should finish near the top in the conference. Their strength is concentrated in the hurdles, with Capt. Lucian Wilson, who was clocked in 14.9 seconds in the high at the Long Beach Regatta Saturday, and Kenny Vandruft, who observers believe can do 15 flat. Wilson and Frank Boyd indicate they will be breaking the tape at or under 25 seconds in the 220 lows. The collegians are also powerful in the 880, mile, two-mile, and broad jump, and possess fair strength in the shot, discus, high jump, pole vault and javelin. They are of unknown quality in the three dashes—100, 220 and 440—and the half-mile relay.

DONS TO ENTER ALL MINOR J. C. SPORTS

Santa Ana is one of the three junior colleges which will participate in all minor sports sponsored by the Eastern conference this year. Riverside and San Bernardino complete the trio entering teams in swimming, golf and tennis.

Riverside will not be on the golf schedule, but will engage in swimming and tennis. Chaffey, which recently substituted rugby for baseball, will sponsor a tennis team and may join the swimming competition. Pomona will not swim but will play golf and tennis. Citrus will have a tennis team but no representatives in golf and swimming.

Santa Ana's golfers open their season with Riverside April 7, face San Bernardino May 4 and Pomona May 11. All three matches will be held here, probably over the course of the Santa Ana Country club. Riverside has been awarded the conference golf tournament, to be held May 18 or 25.

Fullerton, Santa Ana, Riverside and San Bernardino will prepare swimming teams for competition in the 50, 100 and 440-yard races, the medley, and the 100-yard breast and 100-yard back stroke. John Henry, city diving champion of Wichita, Kansas, is Santa Ana's chief hope in the water sport. Interest in swimming is said to be keen on the Don campus.

Santa Ana's tennis players, coached by Clyde Patton, begin their season April 6 against Pomona here. Contests follow with Citrus here April 13, Riverside there April 20, Fullerton there April 27, Chaffey here May 4 and San Bernardino there May 11.

JONES WORKS HARD ON HIS GREEN GAME

ATLANTA, Ga., March 12.—(UP)—Bobby Jones is putting around nowadays in an earnest effort to improve his greens game in preparation for the Master's open golf tournament at Augusta April 4 to 7.

The Master's tournament is the other competitive affair in which the famous Bobby returns to meet the stars. Up until last year when he played in the first annual Master's tournament, he had not competed in tournament golf since 1930 when he made golf's grand slam by winning the four major tournaments of England and America.

Last year, Jones finished thirteenth along with Denny Shute, then British open champion, Walter Hagan and others. He isn't in bad company at all, but he believes that more attention to his putting will put him nearer the top.

It was his putting that hurt him last year so he is out to improve that. He's not going to the extreme in preparing but he is spending more time away from his law practice this year than he did last year. His practice rounds over the East Lake Country club here have been right around par.

Jones is president of the Augusta National and invitations have gone out to 138 golfers to compete in the $5000 golfing event that was won last year by Horton Smith.

Smith will be back to defend his title and a field of 75 of the better known golfers are expected to compete.

The invitation list included the first 24 finishers in the Masters last year, all past and present open and amateur titleholders and others. Many foreign golfers also have been invited.

BIKE LEAD CHANGES
LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—The team of Walthour and Crossley took the lead in the six-day bicycle race at the Olympic auditorium at 6 a. m. today. The team at the 81st hour had gone 1162 miles and two laps and had collected 424 sprint points.

CORNWELL JOHNSON SAYS 7:2 JUMP SURE TO COME

LOS ANGELES, March 12.—(UP)—It may be next week. It may be next month. It may be ten years, or even 100, but some day someone's going to make a successful running high jump at 7 feet 2 inches.

At any rate that's what Cornelius Johnson, the janky young Negro from Compton, thinks. And Johnson should know something about jumping for he is holder of the National A. A. U. indoor high jumping championship and for three years has been A. A. U. champion outdoor leaper.

"But," he hastily added, "The man who tops the bar at seven-foot-two won't be me. I expect to be a top notch jumper for about three years. Not any longer."

Johnson Best—Cromwell
In spite of the young ebony-skinned jumper's opinion of himself, however, Dean Cromwell, track coach at the University of Southern California, has an opinion that if there is a man living today who can lift himself more than seven feet, that man is Johnson.

Cromwell made the assertion after watching Johnson's performance when he returned from winning the indoor championship in New York two weeks ago.

Why the young Negro has set the "shooting" mark at 7 feet, 2 inches, he didn't say, but that seems to be the "stratosphere" which most high jumpers look to, he said.

"I expect to jump 6 feet 11 inches in the Olympic tryouts or in the Olympic games," Johnson said confidently. "But that will be about my limit. I'm not tall enough to go much higher. It will take a man at least three inches taller than I am."

Johnson stands 6 feet three-and-a-half inches and if he carries out his hopes of clearing the bar at 6:11 it will set a new world's record.

His Best Mark 6:8½
Johnson's best mark to date is 6 feet 8½ inches, set last July in the national championships when he led Walter Marty, of Fresno, who holds the world's record of 6 feet 9½ inches.

The young Negro was unbeaten in 14 meets during his European tour last summer when he met the best of foreign jumpers. He is confident of making the American Olympic team and has picked Marty and Al Treadgill, negro from Temple University, as his teammates.

"But I get as much kick out of running as I do out of jumping," he said. "I like to run the 220. I've made it in 21.5."

"And take it from me," he added, "This Ralph Metcalfe is not through either. He'll be back and will win the 1936 Olympic 100-meter title hands down."

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

FRESNO—On Chance Field—named in honor of Frank Chance, "peerless leader" of the old Chicago Cubs—the San Francisco Seals started the intensive work of spring practice today. The club has two days to themselves before squaring off against the Mission Reds in the contest Thursday in which Fresno's new baseball park will be dedicated.

SAN FRANCISCO—The bleacher fans, the regular patrons who exert so powerful an influence on a baseball club's balance sheet, will get better accommodations at the Seals' stadium this summer. The Missions and Seals' clubs are throwing open the top 12 rows all around the stadium to all customers. These seats will augment the right field section now assigned to the bleachers.

MODESTO—Oakland has another Italian player who promises to make Ernie Lombardi, Harry Lavagetto and other young Romans developed by the Oaks into the big leagues. The rookie who looks so good in the training camp drills is Dario (Dempsey) Lodigiana, a second baseman.

SANTA BARBARA—The Seattle Indians returned to regular work here today after "Dutch" Reuther, manager, eased training yesterday.

SANTA MONICA—The Los Angeles regulars were to get a stiff workout today following their taming yesterday at the hands of the Yaguannigs, 6 to 0.

FULLERTON—The Hollywood Seals were still plugging at routine training today awaiting the arrival of two infielders, an outfielder and two pitchers from Florida.

AVALON—Jack Andrews, 18, University of California southwamp pitcher, is to be given a tryout with the Chicago Cubs. Manager Charley Grimm said today.

PASADENA—Manager Jimmy Dykes was ready to push the Chicago White Sox through a vigorous workout today in preparation for a series of exhibition games, the first of which is with Los Angeles Friday.

SCHMELING CINCH FOR BAER

Maxie Has Too Much Chin, Confidence For German

HAMBURG FIGHT MISLEADING

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 12.—It's amazing how expert a sports writer becomes at being an expert. Take me, for example. I've been in the business only seven or eight years, and am still a comparative novice. Yet already I can float from one sport to another with more ease than the young-man-in-tights—who-played-with-everybody-in-the-house-like-a-mouse.

I've been in Florida two months, and a study of my memory book reveals that I have written concise, authoritative, monographs on the following subjects: wrestling, boxing, tennis (lawn and clay court), polo (horse and water), swimming (on top and under), circus, skating (ice and roller), automobile and wrestling (framed and phony).

Just a moment ago, I picked up a paper and saw where Anny Ondra's husband, Max Schmeling, working in a Hamburg ring, had made hamburger of Steve Hamas, the American fistcuffer, and was in the throes of signing for a world's heavyweight championship fight with Max Baer sometime this summer.

Immediately my head was emptied of automotive data and in poured a full line of boxing facts, such as right crosses, double crosses, Jim Figg's middle name, hooks, uppercuts, chisels, cut men, and blind judges. And—without one bit of effort on my part—I became a fight expert, and will give you, in exact detail, how Schmeling cut down Hamas in Hamburg and, in turn, will again be cut down by the Baer.

Schmeling beat Hamas because he is a fighter and Hamas isn't. The only thing the Penn State ever had was a fair but wild right hand, and plenty of heart. Those virtues were more than offset by a trick knee earned in football, and an unbelievable awkwardness. He beat Schmeling a year ago only because the German was out of condition and the fight was for 12 and not 13 rounds. I saw that fight in Philly and Max, despite a brutal beating during the early heats, had Hamas out on his feet in the 12th. One more round and Steve would have departed from the scene of battle first, toes up turned.

Schmeling (and here's where I begin to get very authoritative) will never beat Baer, however. That was written in the books in the first round of their fight several years ago. In that fight, Schmeling, running over with confidence, walked out in the opening round and laid down—squarely on Baer's chin—as hard as a right hand punch as he will ever throw. Behind it was all his 190 pounds. As it landed, Schmeling, with look of triumph on his face, stepped back to give Baer room to fall.

Baer didn't fall. He grinned slyly, stuck out his chin, and said: "Is that the best you've got, you German (deleted by editors)? If it is, I'm going to kill you." And he darn near did.

That sort of thing isn't going to help Schmeling when he next meets Baer. (See, I'm a psychological expert, too). He'll walk out a whipped man. And—any man may take my solemn word for it—he'll be carried out a whipped man.

Second Stringers
Nip Saint Thirde
Santa Ana high school's second string won a 12-6 game from the Saint third-stringers in baseball at Poly field yesterday. Clyde Cook's regulars went through two hours of batting and fielding drill for their contest with Riverside junior college today. The lineup:

Second-string—Warrecker and Moyer, 2b; Klepper, ss; Mit. Nitta, 2b; Min. Nitta, cf; McCullah and Wall, 2b; Wilkins, 1b; Wyck-off, 1b; Huntzinger, rf; Brown, p. Third-string—O'Campo, ss; Zlack, 2b; Nordstrom, 1b; Jiles, c; DeBord, rf; Castro, 3b; Ortega and Morris, p; Tucker and Richardson, cf; Nowotny and Pagenkopp, if.

Did You Know That
Bobby Jones' Masters' tournament in Augusta, Ga. will be staged April 4-7. . . and those in the know are saying it will be Bobby's last big-time effort. . . George Earnshaw again will work on the bonus basis for the White Sox this season. . . The big right-hand hurler will collect 500 iron men for every victory over 10, according to his 1935 contract. . . "Kiki" Cuyler may do the leading off in the Cubs' batting order this season. . . Chuck Woodie, Detroit lightweight who recently surprised Tony Canzoneri is the latest to take the trail leading to Champion Barney Ross' door. . . Open-air light opera is to add to the revenue of Navin field, home of the Detroit Tigers, this summer. . . The song birds will warble at night.

Jacket Baseball Squad In Action
FULLERTON, March 12.—With their basketball season finally ended, the Fullerton Yellowjackets started baseball practice yesterday. Eighteen candidates greeted Coach Art Nunn for the first official workout, though many of the athletes have been out for some time. The Jackets open their season at Whittier college Wednesday and tackle the Hollywood rookies here next week.

SECTION HOLDS LUNCHEON AND BRIDGE AFFAIR

GARDEN GROVE, March 12.—The social section of the Woman's Civic club sponsored a cheese demonstration luncheon and card party in the clubhouse recently, with nearly 100 persons in attendance.

The St. Patrick motif was carried out in the decorations for the three course luncheon. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. Genevieve Fording, Mrs. Ray Johnson and Mrs. Charles Ver Jones.

At the close of the card games the following received prizes: Mrs. E. Johns of Los Alamitos, first in contract bridge; Mrs. J. A. Williams, first, Mrs. Walter Sparks, second, and Mrs. Virgil Sparks, consolation, in auction bridge, and Mrs. W. H. Stennett, first in "500." Special awards were given to Mrs. E. A. Wakeham, Mrs. E. Bilden, Mrs. H. C. Meyers, Mrs. W. H. Stennett, Mrs. E. Chaffee and Mrs. O. L. Jacobs of Santa Ana.

Bay Sand Is Used To Fill Beach Area

NEWPORT BEACH, March 12.—Work of filling in the area at West Newport which was stripped by the disastrous rip tides and ground swells of the past six months began this week, with the pumping of sand directly on to the West Newport Beach by the dredger Point Loma.

The dredger took up its position at the west end of Lido Island yesterday, and pumping was commenced immediately. Pipes to the beach had been laid the week before, being routed under Central avenue, main artery into Newport Beach.

The beach will be filled in for a space of about three miles 200 feet deep. The rip tides and heavy breakers which pounded the area during the fall months wrecked six houses, washed approximately a mile of Pacific Electric track, demolished a large section of Seashore drive, and caused the moving of almost the entire West Newport beach colony. Government engineers believe the new beach will permit the area to be rebuilt.

CONDUCT FUNERAL OF LAGUNA WOMAN

LAGUNA BEACH, March 12.—Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Adams Conklin, 84, who passed away Saturday night at her home on Dumond street, were held Monday afternoon at the Laguna Beach Funeral home. Interment was in Westminster Memorial park.

Mrs. Conklin was the mother of Hal Conklin, noted writer and weaver. She had lived in Laguna with her son for the past two years.

Bridge Contest Opens at Laguna

LAGUNA BEACH, March 12.—Qualifying rounds to choose five teams to represent Laguna Beach in the Orange County Bridge association tournament to take place in the near future in Santa Ana, were held over the week end at the Community club under the auspices of Mrs. Sarah Hadden of Santa Ana.

The 10 winners of places were Ralph Frost Jr. and Verne Bush, Mrs. Everett Tawney and Mrs. Ralph Frost Jr., Mrs. Maurice B. McMillan and Frank Hevener, Mrs. Frank Hevener and Maurice B. McMillan, and Charles Gilmore and Mrs. Isabel Pharoah. Mrs. Hevener and Mr. McMillan won the highest score of the evening.

The only team from Laguna qualifying for the American Bridge league being held at the Los Angeles Athletic club was composed of Mrs. Everett Tawney and Ralph Frost Jr.

LA HABRA RECOVERING

LA HABRA, March 12.—D. Drum of La Habra, who was found unconscious by a passing motorist on Telegraph road early Sunday morning, is recuperating at the home of his son here. Drum, returning from work, is thought to have suffered a slight heart attack, causing him to lose control of his car, which overturned. He was not seriously injured and after being treated at the office of a local physician, was allowed to go to his son's home. The car was only slightly damaged and was driven from the scene of the accident.

POLLING PLACE FOR MARCH 29 ELECTION SET

PLACENTIA, March 12.—Election of the Placentia Union Grammar school district will vote at the Richfield school on March 29, the school board ruled Monday night following definite instructions received from William Menton, district attorney in charge of schools, and also instructions from an attorney at Sacramento who had a ruling teletyped to Ray Adkinson, superintendent of public instructions in the county schools.

The ruling of the state office, signed by Alfred Lewis, read: "I am of opinion after conferring with the attorney general that no action of electors take precedent over notices posted by school board."

The conditions surrounding the call of an election by a citizens' committee were brought out at the meeting. C. G. Teed, who with A. E. Roddeck and J. D. Lyon signed the citizens' committee class March 5, said they did it because they found that the school board notices were supposed to have been posted 30 days before election, and actually were posted March 5, and post-dated. A citizens' committee may call an election within 15 days before the time, was stated.

Lyon, president of the board who had been in Sacramento and learned of the difficulty yesterday morning, made a statement that he wanted it understood that the school board members were not to blame for the late posting. He declared that rumors have been spread that many actions of the president of the board had been against the Valencia High school, over the formation of which the Richfield and Yorba grammar school districts of the Union Grammar school district have disagreed. He said he would not be surprised if a rumor started that he, Lyon, had held up the election to provide more fuel against the high school, and because of that wanted it specifically understood that the board was not to blame for the belated posting.

Teed, in a short discussion, said the citizens' committee felt it behooved them, in consideration of the difficulties in the community, to call a legal election that "disgruntled candidates could not declare the election illegal."

Frank Rospaw, local publisher, said he might refuse to take the new election notice. He declared he did not interpret the law as it had been interpreted there. A. E. Roddeck had accused him of refusing to publish the citizens' election last Thursday. Rospaw said he would inquire of a good attorney for the changing his attitude that only the first notice as presented him by the school board and as published last week was legal.

Four Candidates in Race
The polls at Richfield will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. March 29, where voters will elect two board members. Four candidates have been named from the Placentia district.

On recommendation of Jack Crossley, principal of the Valencia High school, and Ralph Essert, superintendent of schools, all members of the board agreed to adopt a Hughes Smith plan of agricultural and manual education except Mrs. Hermine Lowe, who withheld her sanction because she said she wants to study the plan further. Members also agreed to purchase athletic equipment for girls to play hockey, at a cost of about $48.

Buell Beard and Mrs. Lowe were

NEWPORT COUNCIL FROWNS ON SPEED BOAT RACING IN BAY; PLAN TO REOPEN CHIP GAMES

NEWPORT BEACH, March 12.—Two matters of public interest, the question of speed boat racing on the bay, and of the reopening of chip games, closed last summer by order of Sheriff Logan Jackson, were discussed at last night's meeting of the Newport Beach city council.

Reopening of Balboa chip games, under a new non-gambling status, was indicated when the council instructed the police commission to post "No gambling" signs in each of the game parlors. The state penal code gambling laws will be included on the posters, it was said.

C. W. Hatching, representing game operators, appeared before the council to request that the commission prepare a set of rules and regulations for the conduct of the games, as a guide to operators. It was decided that the operators would hold a conference with the police commission and city attorney and draw up a set of rules satisfactory to both sides. No date was set for the opening of the games.

Speed boat racing on the bay, the subject of many protests from property owners, came in for its share of discussion when a letter protesting the holding of the races and signed by Mark J. Johnson, president of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce, was read. The request of the Los Angeles Speed Boat club to hold races on the county channel March 31 was denied.

The police commission will draw up a set of regulations to be formed by the racers on future dates, in an effort to avoid unnecessary noise and confusion which have caused the filing of protests. Under the terms of city ordinance five more dates are open for speed boat racing this year.

A possibility that Balboa will have a walkathon this summer was seen when C. Carnie, Los Angeles, appeared before the council to request a license for the operating of a walkathon at the Penthouse for approximately three months, beginning June 15. No action was taken on the request, but Carnie was instructed to discuss the matter with City Attorney Roland Thompson.

A quit claim deed on two disputed lots on the north side of Jesse Pursey was accepted from Jesse Pursey, owner of the property. The city had been involved in litigation over the property since the two lots for several years.

The chamber of commerce was granted an increase of $1000 for its advertising fund, until June 30. A letter from Harbormaster Thomas Bouchee, stating that only 65 per cent of boat owners had taken out permits for moorings, called forth the decision that it was the jurisdiction of the harbormaster to force the taking out of permits.

The city engineer was empowered to buy approximately 600 feet of second hand six-inch iron pipe to construct a temporary sewage line across the bay from Balboa island to the septic tank, during the progress of the dredging work in the bay. The request of L. R. Carpenter, Long Beach, to build a miniature railway from Balboa to Newport on the beach was denied.

SEWING CLUB MEETS

SILVER ACRES, March 12.—The Chatter Chatters club, which is composed of a group of young married women who graduated from Grove High school, have decided to meet once a week for an all day meeting for the purpose of quilting. The last meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Pauline Patterson and a pot luck dinner was served at noon. Each member is to be presented with a quilt.

Mrs. Pearl Davis was surprised with the gift of a beautiful bed spread, the occasion being her birthday anniversary. She also received a birthday cake and a shower of handkerchiefs. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Pauline Patterson's home of First street. Those present were Mrs. Grace Neff, Mrs. Hattie Drake and Mrs. Mary Head of Garden Grove, Mrs. Pearl Davis, Mrs. Bessie Mark of Orange, Mrs. Hilda McCulloch and Mrs. Pauline Patterson.

A girl with pale gold braids wrapped around her head like a halo cried, "Wally Carter—of all the nerve! Maybe Vicky is the prettiest girl in the room but do the rest of us have to hear about it all the time? Give us a break, can't you?"

"Aw, now, Madge—" put in a contralto voice, "he was telling me about my flawless beauty. Wally, Wally, you've ruined my faith in men!"

"But listen—give me a chance—" The good-natured bickering went on. Only Vicky said nothing. She sat, very still and white, looking down at the silver bracelet on her wrist, fingering the bracelet mechanically. The voices of the others flowed around her. Vicky did not seem to hear them, to know they were there.

Brian asked quietly, "Why so silent, Vicky?" She raised her head then, met his eyes. "It's my head," she said, frowning slightly. "It's aching fearfully."

"Shall we leave?" Then she said, "I believe I'd like to if you don't mind."

"I'll drive you home," he said. Five minutes later they were outside. Brian helped her into the coupe and she leaned back, breathing deeply. The fresh, cool air struck her face. Vicky closed her eyes as Brian shifted into first and the car moved down the driveway.

Presently she opened them again. She said, "I feel better already. It was so stuffy at the club—"

Brian nodded. "Yes, it was," he agreed. "Are you sure you're warm enough?"

FARGE COMEDY PRESENTED AT CLUB MEETING

BUENA PARK, March 12.—A talk on "The Club Woman" by Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton, federation news editor, was a feature of the forty-sixth birthday anniversary celebration of the Woman's club at the clubhouse. Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake of Orange, president of the Orange County Federation of Woman's clubs, gave a short talk.

A farce comedy, "Do Men Gossip?" was presented by a group of club members, including Mrs. Katherine S. Berkey, Mrs. L. H. Tanquary, Mrs. H. E. Buell, Mrs. Eleanor Jones, Miss Lois Couts and Miss Molly Wolford.

Community singing was under the direction of Mrs. Fred Law with Mrs. J. F. Wagg assisting at the piano. Donna Law, daughter of the song leader, presented a group of piano selections.

Birthday gifts presented by girls of the junior auxiliary included two lamp shades for the club lounge and an elaborate basket of spring flowers.

Teachers of the Grand avenue and Lindbergh schools who are honorary members of the club, decorated the tables. A center decoration included the tiered birthday cake decorated in pink rose buds and candles in harmonizing tones. The cake was cut and served by Mrs. J. F. Greenwalt, a past president of the club who also observed her birthday anniversary concurrently with that of the organization.

Committee members in charge included Mrs. C. W. Wahl, chairman of the dinner committee with Mrs. R. D. Temple, Mrs. Tanquary and Mrs. Jones as her assistants.

Mrs. J. F. Wagg was in charge of the program and Mrs. Buell and Mrs. Caryl Snyder, music.

LAST RITES OBSERVED

BUENA PARK, March 12.—Funeral services for Harold Gene Douglas, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Douglas, were held this morning from the J. E. Seale funeral chapel in Fullerton.

The child died late Saturday at the Orange County hospital after a brief illness. Burial was in Loma Vista cemetery.

"Oh, yes." The collar of her fur coat had slipped to one side and she drew it into place. She said, "Let's not go home yet. This air seems to be just what I need. Let's drive out on the Morley Road."

Brian turned the car at the next corner and soon they were traveling along a country road with level fields on either side. Moonlight shone down, casting a silvery magic over the ground. Lights from farm house windows sparkled in the distance. Barns and clumps of trees were black, mysterious shadows.

Wind whipped Vicky's hair back and a tendiril of it blew against Brian's cheek. He asked, "How's the head?"

"Much better," Vicky was silent for a time. She stole a swift look at the young man beside her and then plunged. He could not see that her eyes had darkened, did not notice the faintly perceptible change in her voice.

"Brian," Vicky said, "I've been thinking about things."

"What things?"

"Oh—everything. I'm so tired of doing the same things, shopping and playing bridge and going to parties. Seeing the same people and hearing them say the same things. You think I'm terribly frivolous, don't you? I'm not—I mean I don't want to be. I wish I could do something that really counts."

"But, you can, Vicky."

"I hadn't thought much about it," the girl went on, "before you came. You've made me realize how silly and foolish it is to waste time the way I have, the way almost everyone I know does. I want to work like you do."

Brian smiled grimly. "That's not much of an ambition," he said. "So far I haven't done anything at all."

"Oh, but you have! I've heard Father tell about it. He says it's wonderful the way you've taken hold at the mill."

"Then your father's not as observing as I thought he was. What do you want to do, Vicky? Is there anything special you have in mind?"

"I think there is—" She hesitated. "I wanted to talk to you about it. I've been thinking I'd like to know more about the people who work at the mill. You're so interested in them. I'd like to—well, get acquainted and see if there aren't ways I could help them. Little things I could do."

"What a great idea, Vicky."

"Do you, really? Oh, I'm so glad. Then you will help me with it?"

"Of course I will."

Vicky touched his arm. "You are sweet," she said. "I thought if I could get acquainted with some

Laguna P.-T. A. Meets Thursday

LAGUNA BEACH, March 12.—The Laguna Beach Elementary School P.-T. A. will hold its regular meeting in the grammar school kindergarten room Thursday at 3 p. m., it was announced today by Mrs. C. Addison Van Looney, who will be in charge of the meeting.

Included on the program will be moving pictures of the Boulder dam and San Pedro grammar school, and a musical program by Miss Josephine Hill's orchestra. It was announced that a father's day banquet will be held April 10.

BEACH CHURCH PLANS FAMILY NIGHT AFFAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, March 12.—Family night will be observed at the Huntington Beach Methodist church Friday night, with an exchange dinner and a program arranged by the young people of the church. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Moving pictures of the Passion Play will be shown, through the courtesy of Mr. Miner of the high school. A silver offering will be taken, to assist in the work among young people of the church.

Dr. James Edwin Dunning, district superintendent of the Methodist church, was speaker at the Sunday morning services. An anthem by the choir with violin obligato by Ralph C. Turner, and vocal duet by Misses Dorothea and Pauline Prescott were special musical numbers.

The class in evangelism, conducted by the pastor, will meet Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock in the study.

The Missionary society will hold an all-day meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. McFarland, of the Standard oil camp. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. Those desiring transportation are asked to meet at the church at 11:30 o'clock.

The Sunday school board will meet Thursday evening at 7:15 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Jack Lorenzen, 415 Fourteenth street.

There were times when she couldn't believe the glorious secret locked away in her heart. There were times when she told herself that was a dream.

But it wasn't—it wasn't! Brian Westmore had said, "I love you, Gale. I think I've been in love with you from the very first time I saw you."

He had said that and he was coming tonight. There were so many things Gale should have done. Her father, of course, would have to know. She should have thought how she was to tell him, how she was to make him understand how really fine and sincere Brian was. There were things her father was sure to say—objections—and she should have thought how to meet them. She hadn't been able to settle any of those things. She hadn't been able to plan anything. Perhaps Brian could help. Of course he could. Brian could do anything!

The color went out of her face. Brian laid the dress aside and stood before the mirror. She brushed her hair until the bronze highlights in it flickered like gold. Her cheeks needed no rouge; the ivory skin glowed with the fire beneath it. She touched her face with a powder puff, studied the effect. She wanted so much to look her best tonight.

The blue dress went over her head. Yes, the white collar did make it look fresher. It was a cheap little dress, one Gale had made herself. She thought of the frock she would like to wear to-night, the sort to be seen in shop windows at the other side of town—sapphire satin or black velvet with silver buttons, slim and sophisticated.

She heard a knock on the outer door and for an instant her heart ceased beating. Then she hurried into the living room. She opened the door, said "Good evening," and then stepped back.

Gale's eyes, wide, searched the shadows. Vicky Thatcher was facing her and behind Vicky half in darkness, stood Brian Westmore.

ROGERS TO ENTER POLICE CHIEF RACE

Rolla Hayes, incumbent member of the board of education, filed his nomination papers yesterday to become the first candidate to enter officially the race for the school post.

Claude Rogers, a sixth prospect for the office of chief of police, took out his nomination papers yesterday, according to City Clerk Ed Vegely. Rogers was chief until Floyd Howard, present head of the department, was elected four years ago. Four candidates have already filed for this post and a fifth has taken out papers.

OIL CONCERN EXPECTS BIG BUSINESS BOOM

"Be ready for more business in 1935!"

This was the encouraging message received here yesterday from W. P. Durkee Jr., marketing vice-president of Shell Oil company, by J. H. Kellerman, local manager.

"People have money and are not afraid to spend it," Durkee wrote. "Shell Touring Service is receiving more requests for maps and travel information than ever before."

memorandum for Shell's confidence in 1935 are the January automobile production of 350,000 cars, the biggest January since 1929; new car registrations in January nearly double those of the same months a year ago; and a sky-rocketing jump of 47 per cent in January tourist travel as compared with January, 1934.

Durkee also revealed that Shell, confident business is going to be better this year than for many seasons past, has authorized one of the most aggressive advertising and sales promotion programs in the company's history.

"Mr. Durkee has given us the job of seeing to it that this year Shell stations are easier to find and give service that is up to the minute," Kellerman said. "We are starting at once to check up on map supplies and touring information, cleanliness of restroom facilities, and the general appearance of all Shell stations. We are going to do our share to give visitors a good impression to take away with them."

S. A. SYMPHONY CONCERT TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY

BY MRS. RUSSEL ROWLAND

The Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Edward Bear, will present a spring concert on Sunday, March 17, in the First Methodist church, Sixth and Spurgeon streets, it was announced today. The program will be at 4:30 p. m., in the nature of a vespers concert, admission free.

The works to be presented are the Haydn Second Symphony, in D Major, otherwise known as the "London" Symphony; three excerpts from Wagner's Lohengrin, including Prelude, the Procession to the Cathedral (in the second act), and the prelude and first scene of the third act; The Waltz of the Flowers from Tchaikovsky's Nutcracker Suite; and the last two movements of Saint-Saens's Algerian Suite, Reverie du Soir, and Marche Militaire Française.

Musical lovers of the community who are familiar with the fine results achieved by Mr. Bear and the orchestra in previous concerts, await with interest the forthcoming event.

This civic symphony society has enjoyed an enviable popularity under the able direction and management of Mr. Bear and his co-workers. For approximately 18 months the orchestra has been giving concerts, periodically, in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, and during that time has enjoyed the cordial cooperation of Dr. George Warner, pastor of the church. As the attendance grows it will be necessary to have a larger auditorium; and on this point Mr. Bear has stated that the High School auditorium when that building is completed. Until that time, the orchestra will continue giving its concerts in the Methodist church.

Others cooperating with Mr. Bear in staging the concert are Dr. Merrill Hollingsworth, manager; Mrs. Walter Spicer, president, and Fred Perry, owner of music library.

BODY WASHED UP BY WAVES AT BEACH CITY

Believed to be a suicide, the body of an unidentified man was washed ashore in Huntington Beach last night and is being held at the Dixon mortuary in the beach city awaiting identification.

Coroner Earl Abbey said that the body was found on the beach near the municipal beach camp ground at 10:30 p. m. by George Coleman, former officer in Huntington Beach, who was walking down the beach.

The fact that there was no identification on the body and the pockets and sleeves of the coat had been filled with sand was cited by Abbey as possible evidence that the man had committed suicide. The body had been in the water only a few hours and was clean shaven and somewhat shabbily dressed. There was no evidence of injuries except small lacerations on the bottom of the feet, which were bandaged. The man is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs about 130 pounds, has blue eyes, grey hair nearly bald, no teeth, and was wearing a heavy blue double breasted suit.

No inquest will be held, Abbey announced, and efforts are being made to locate relatives or friends of missing persons in an attempt to identify the body.

WHERE ARE WE NOW?

John T. Flynn Credits What Recovery U. S. Has Achieved to Government's Spending of Half-Billion a Month

The forces that are pushing us forward and the forces that are holding us back on our drive toward recovery are described in the following informative article by John T. Flynn. This is the second of three articles, written exclusively for The Register and NEA Service, in which the famous journalist-economist answers every American's question: "Where are we now?"—after two years of the New Deal.

By JOHN T. FLYNN
(Copyright, 1935, NEA Service, Inc.)

TRAVELING on the way toward recovery, we have covered 54 per cent of the distance in production, 28 per cent in employment, 21 per cent in payrolls, 18 per cent in wages and a very large per cent in profits.

But what has produced that recovery? We have to know that before we can know whether the advance is to continue. Of course, various claims are made for the NRA, the AAA, the monetary experiments and so on. Was it these? Or was it certain forces at work within business itself?

The answer, I think, is that such distance as we have traveled has been due to none of these things. Our advance has been due to one thing and one thing alone—to the great sums of money expended by the government.

From July 1, 1933, up to February 23 of this year—a period of almost 20 months—the government has paid out in emergency expenditures, over and above the ordinary expenses of the government, $9,871,809,584.91.

This is a huge sum of money—almost half a billion dollars a month for 20 months.

Where Relief Money Goes
It is very important that you understand just what this money does to us—how it gets into our economic system and works its way around. To make the matter quite simple, let us look at Mr. A, who is on relief and who is getting $12 a week. What does he do with it? He spends it. He takes it to the grocery. What does the grocery man do? He buys goods at the factory. The factory man uses the money to pay wages and buy raw materials. The raw material man pays wages in turn.

And thus that $12 paid out at first as a dole makes its way into the channels of trade, to the retailer, the manufacturer, the raw material man, to their employees who spend it in turn at other retail stores and so on endlessly.

It is very plain, therefore that when the government poured into the blood stream of business nearly ten billion dollars in the last twenty months that that ten billion aided not merely the people who received it from the government, but retail merchants, wholesalers, manufacturing plants of all sorts, railroads and so on.

You may think that government does are not being used to buy automobiles. But they are. The man who gets the dole does not buy autos. But the man he spends it with buys automobiles and radios.

Alternative
Is it not perfectly plain, therefore, that if that ten billion had not been spent, not only would those on relief have perished, but business itself would have had none of the advances we have recorded? Factories have been able to put men to work, wages have advanced slightly, the production has increased, profits have risen because that half billion dollars a month was poured into business every month since the middle of 1933.

Of course, it must be said that this money outright. Some of it was loaned to others—to railroads, banks, etc. But whether spent directly or loaned by the government, the funds were introduced into the streams of business where they were available for spending over and over again. Without these spendings it is safe to say we would have had a complete and paralyzing collapse. What is more, if they were to be stopped or even diminished we would have a complete and paralyzing collapse. The government, of course, has no intention of diminishing them. And as long as the government keeps

Building Industry
The answer is more or less obvious. I have said that the country may be looked upon as two great workshops—one engaged in making consumers' goods, things sold in stores and at retail to the public, and the other engaged in making heavy machinery, roads, houses, buildings, locomotives, railroad equipment, etc., and sold not to the public for cash but to business enterprises on credit. This second great workshop has been almost completely shut down.

The most important single element in this great workshop is the construction industry—that great industry which puts up our houses, buildings, roads, schools and so on. And this industry has been in a state of great depression. For instance, if you will go back to 1929 you will find that construction contracts amounted to from 300 to 475 million dollars a month. It has been declining ever since. By 1931 it was down to over a hundred million dollars a month. By 1932 it had shrunk to between 75 and 105 million dollars a month. During 1933 and 1934, if it were not for various government projects undertaken to aid business, there would be almost no construction industry. In January of this year private construction had fallen to about 22 millions.

The hope of the government has been that this industry would revive; that shortage in homes, in commercial buildings, in industrial plants would develop and that the building industry would go to work to supply these things. But it has not done so.

Explanations
In Wall Street they will tell you it is due to three reasons: The Securities Act which frightens away bankers and corporation executives; government interference in business; to uncertainty about the future which frightens investors.

The first two are so much undiluted bunk. Wall Street preaches this in order to get the Securities Act, passed to protect investors, repealed. As to government interference in business, in spite of all the talk, there has been literally no interference in business by the government. The NRA was passed at the instigation of business and the administration foolishly suspended the anti-trust acts to let business run things its own way.

But the third reason is more valid. Uncertainty always scares the investor. Uncertainty about the value of the dollar is always enough to frighten any man who is asked to lend his money. The importance of introducing certainty into the money markets by taking a final position on money matters cannot be over-stated.

Prosperity Index
To state the matter simply then, it is this great heavy industries workshop which must get under way and take up the burden which is now being borne by the government through public spending. Until this is done there can be no end of government doles and subsidies. You can tell just when recovery is coming by watching two sets of figures. One is the record of private building construction. The other is the record of new financing.

How a $12 payment to a man on relief finds its way into the nation's monetary "blood stream."

In watching the figures on financing, it will be important to distinguish between refunding operations and new financing. When a corporation puts out one bond issue to pay off an old one this, while important to the corporation, does not supply any fresh funds to business. But when it puts out a new bond issue or stock issue, and the securities are sold for cash to buy new machinery or to erect new plants, then the capital goods industry is being stimulated; this great idle workshop is being speeded up.

Why is the capital goods industry failing to move into activity? Is it because we have no money to lend builders? Or is it because builders see no market for new construction? Or is it because lenders are unwilling to lend and builders afraid to borrow?

In Wall Street they will tell you it is due to three reasons: The Securities Act which frightens away bankers and corporation executives; government interference in business; to uncertainty about the future which frightens investors. The first two are so much undiluted bunk. Wall Street preaches this in order to get the Securities Act, passed to protect investors, rice buildings, theaters, when those in existence are losing money.

As for industrial building, the government itself through the NRA, has been moving heaven and earth to prevent manufacturers from putting up new plants or buying new machinery on the ground that we already have too much plant capacity. Many important codes have rules to prevent further plant expansion.

Focal Point

Where is the new building to come from? No man can dismiss the matter merely because he cannot see what is hidden in the womb of time and science and enterprise. In the past the rise has come from new forms and styles and techniques in building and from new industries. Shortages will soon develop in the supply of moderate homes—shortages caused by obsolescence, increasing population and changing styles. The government could give a great fillip to residential construction by embarking on a great program of building in one field which is not over-supplied—low-cost housing.

Doubtless our railroads need complete rehabilitation. This would require billions. But they are handicapped by vast and crushing debts which make it impossible for them to borrow any more money to remodel their outworn and outmoded equipment. A tremendous development of the electrical age would have a great effect. But this is hindered by the stupid policies of high rates which utilities persist in order to make profits for their thespian capital structures.

There are those who think recovery might be hastened by rebuilding foreign trade. Unhappily that hope is chimerical. It will take decades to bring foreign trade to any level sufficient to afford us real aid. The whole business is out of our hands. Other countries have imitated our example and surrounded themselves, for economic and military reasons, by tariff and trade walls. They will not let our products in.

Font of Funds

Meantime, you ask, where is all the money coming from which the government is using for relief, etc? Where does the government get it? The government is borrowing it. In 1930 our national debt was 16 billion. Now it is over 28 billion. In six months it will be over 33 billion. These are appalling figures. From whom is the government borrowing this money? Chiefly from the banks. Many banks had from one-third to three-fourths of all their deposits loaned to the government. The government borrows the money from the banks. The government spends it. In a short time all the money is back in the banks again. And there it sits until the government borrows it again.

The government denounces the banks for not lending this money to individuals. But business men do not want to borrow it. There is little or no demand for credit. They will not want to borrow it until they can see some profitable use for it.

What becomes of all the money the government pays out in relief? Why doesn't it keep on circulating? Well, Uncle Sam gives Smith $10. Smith spends it at a store. The storekeeper pays it to Brown, his clerk. The clerk buys a suit of clothes with it. The clothing storekeeper buys another suit from the manufacturer. The manufacturer buys cloth from the woolen mill. The woolen mill buys wool from the farmer. The farmer buys a new radio set. The radio man sends the ten dollars to a stockholder as a dividend. He may put it in a savings bank and leave it there. Now that ten dollars is through working until someone comes along and borrows it and starts it on another journey by spending it and so it is trapped in the bank and passes into idleness.

But it must be evident that the government cannot go on borrowing forever. But if the government must go on spending and yet cannot continue borrowing indefinitely, what is to be done. This is the point toward which the whole confused political battle is converging. One group will favor borrowing. Another group will favor taxation. Another group will favor inflation—printing money. This is rapidly coming to be the point of cleavage about which, perhaps, the next presidential campaign will be waged.

NEXT: A great battle for control of our banking system will settle whether we are to inflate this year.

STUDEBAKER DROPS PRICES ON MODELS

Free from legal entanglements and fit for action, the new Studebaker Corporation, once more "The Great Independent," today unexpectedly hurled a challenge to the automobile industry by sharply reducing delivered prices of its 1935 miracle ride Studebaker.

Reductions run as high as $35 on some models, according to J. E. Headley, Studebaker dealer at Second and Sycamore.

"Studebaker is down to fighting trim," said Headley. "We've shaken off many burdensome expenses. We have millions of dollars in new capital. We have no bank loans. We have no preferred stock. Our plants have been written down from $49,000,000 to $15,000,000. All of these things have reduced our manufacturing costs—and we're passing the reductions on to the public right away."

The price reductions are made without reducing the quality of our cars in any way. They are the same well designed, well made 1935 Studebakers as the day before yesterday and yesterday. The lowest priced car is a Dictator Special coupe, selling here for less than $870."

KIWANIS CLUB TO BE HOST AT DIVISION MEET

Santa Ana Kiwanis club will play host to a divisional meeting tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in James' cafe, when District Governor Frank L. Fox, of Glendale, will make an official visit to this division.

The divisional meeting will take the place of the regular weekly meeting, usually held at noon in James' cafe. Dan O'Hanlon, Fullerton, lieutenant governor of the division, will preside at the meeting, which will be a stag event. A skeleton meeting for members who cannot attend the evening meeting and for strangers who would not know of the change in regular plans, will be held at noon tomorrow in James' cafe.

PLANS STARTED FOR FIESTA AT JUNIOR COLLEGE

With the approval of the college executive board, the list of committee chairmen for the annual Santa Ana Junior college Fiesta has been completed, it was announced today by Lucian Wilson, general chairman.

The committee heads are Bill Kirk, dance; Glenn Bishop, program; Eleanor Boyer, dinner; Arden Murray, luncheon; Medora Smith, publicity; Jack Hawkins, school exhibits; Roberta Tuthill, decorations; Naomi Wheeler and Harold Lutes, hospitality; Kenneth Vanduff, bull fight; Gene Erbentraut, tickets; Al Markel, construction; Mary Wallace, costumes; and Sam Gosney, booths.

The annual celebration will be held Friday, May 10 and all graduating seniors of Orange county high schools will be invited. The location of the affair has not yet been decided upon, according to Wilson.

The committees were selected by Wilson and T. H. Glenn, faculty adviser of the Fiesta, and are subject to change at any time.

Miss Anderson Reveals Plans for March Wedding

When Miss Elizabeth Anderson concludes a visit in this city with her father, former Senator John N. Anderson, she will go north to become the bride of George Kohlmeier, of San Francisco, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kohlmeier of Anaheim.

News of the couple's engagement and plans to be married March 23 was revealed last week at a prettily-appointed affair given by Mrs. R. Carson Smith in her home, 1115 West Washington avenue. The hostess had assistance of her mother, Mrs. Charles Carothers, and of Mrs. James Anderson.

The wedding plans were disclosed early in the evening during the serving of a dessert course at candle-lit tables. Arrival of a messenger with a lovely bouquet of red roses from Mr. Kohlmeier, was the signal for little Miss Peggy Smith, daughter of the home, to make her entry with a bouquet for all the guests. The little girl's frock was in yellow and orchid, matching the tones of the flowers to whose petals were tied small wedding bell booklets coupling the names of Miss Anderson and Mr. Kohlmeier with the selected March wedding date.

For the remainder of the evening, guests worked on tea towels, aprons and other articles for the bride-to-be. Miss Anderson has been in San Francisco for the past year. She is well known in this city, where she had all of her early schooling.

Present for the affair, with the honoree, Miss Anderson, and the hostess, Mrs. Smith, were Mrs. George Andrews, Pasadena; Mrs. Donald Anderson, San Diego; Mesdames James Anderson, Charles Carothers, Lynn Crawford, Ben Hefflinger, Ralph Livenspire, Miss Miller, Ralph Raitt, Sheldon Russell, Francis Wright and the Misses Tessie Childers, Frances Egan, Jean Goodwin, Agnes Lieberman, Genevieve Humiston, Grace Robertson, Santa Ana; Beatrice Anderson, Edna Jennings, Hollywood; Josephine Hervey, Glendale, formerly of Santa Ana.

YOU and your Friends

Miss Melissa Burt and Miss Keria Hay of this city spent the weekend in Los Angeles as guests at the home of an old college friend, Mrs. Lily Wilson. The three attended a banquet Saturday night of the Alumni association of Baker University of Baldwin, Kans. Greetings were received from the university president, Dr. Flemming, and other members of the faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Taylor and little son Martin, of Tulare, are spending a week in the Southland as guests of their parents, Mrs. Martin V. Taylor, 820 Riverine avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Buena Park.

Mrs. Edward J. Kotlar of Santa Paula, until recently a resident of Santa Ana, is spending this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Campbell, 980 Lacy street.

Book Reviewer Gives Program for Ebell Society

Cosmopolitan in spirit was Mrs. Jack Valley's talk yesterday afternoon at Ebell society's meeting in the clubhouse. Reviewing books and discussing current situations, she dwelt generally on economic and political crises which have been or are about to be reached in countries throughout the world.

Labor conditions in America and in foreign countries were discussed. Mrs. Valley placed under four headings the points of view which needs must be reconciled in this country within the next few months. Under the headings came those who believe that the government should do all within its power to prevent the formation of unions; that the government should stay out of labor disputes; that the government should act as a mediator by doing all possible to prevent labor troubles; and that the government itself should work toward the formation of labor unions.

Discussing America's economic condition, Mrs. Valley brought out that the Reconstruction Finance corporation no doubt saved the country from financial collapse. She referred to the functioning of R. F. C. and of NRA as to definite steps which the government has taken in collecting fascism and Nazi propaganda as a real menace to the United States. Dwelling on the situation in Germany, she quoted a United Press newspaper correspondent in his prediction that Hitler's regime soon will come to an end.

Books Reviewed

Mrs. Valley told of fascist and anti-fascist parties in France, referring to the book, "France in Peril" (Alexander Worth) as an authentic record of important happenings during the past several months.

"The Great Wall Crumbles" (Grover Clark), Mrs. Valley mentioned for its clear picture of present day Chinese culture, government and ideals of justice; "Changing Asia" (Egon Erwin Kisch) for its picture of backward eastern countries which have thrived under the Soviet regime; "I Speak for the Silent" (Tchernavin) for its story of what happens to the intellectuals under a Soviet regime in Russia. Mrs. Valley gave a reminder of the appearance of Tchernavin's "Look, Escape from the Soviets" two years ago. Completing the books of Russian setting were "Moscow Carrousel" (Eugene Lyons), and "A Vagabond in Soviet Land" (Harry Frank).

Edward Corsi's "In the Shadow of Liberty" was classed as "a fascinating presentation of the history and problems of immigration at Ellis Island."

Other books reviewed, together with some of the comments given, were "Heaven High Hell Deep" (Norman Archibald), a true story of aviation, and a group of novels including "Lean Men" (Ralph Bates), "a long and exciting book dealing with the revolution in Spain," "Cast Down the Laurel" (Arnold Gingrich); "No Quarter Given" (Paul Horgan); "The Man on the March" (Max Miller), "a group of wise, human and witty essays by one of America's most unique geniuses," "Mount Peacock" (Marie Maunon), "a gorgeous satire on government red tape."

Ebell Society to Hold Dinner Honoring Husbands

During a business meeting of Ebell society Monday afternoon in the clubhouse, announcement was made of an annual dinner which the club will hold Monday, March 25 at 6:30 o'clock in the peacock room, with husbands of members as guests.

Eleanor Woodford, dramatic soprano, who was soloist in Santa Ana First Presbyterian church a number of years ago, will present the program.

Mrs. C. V. Davis, president, conducted the business interval, which preceded Mrs. Jack Valley's program of book reviews and current events.

Monday's affair was concluded with a student loan fund tea in the peacock room. The public affairs committee, headed by Mrs. Sam Nau and composed of Mrs. M. M. Holmes, Mrs. Frank Henderson, Mrs. E. T. McFadden and Mrs. Paul Bury, was in charge of this feature. Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. Robert Tassman and Mrs. Robert Northcross poured tea, at a table appointed with tapers and flowers.

Mrs. J. T. Wilson and Miss Lula Minter won prizes during the tea hour.

New York City's unemployment relief costs $17,000,000 a month; 1-600,000 persons, or 23 per cent of its population, are on relief rolls.

Baptist Group Holds Old-fashioned Party

Old-fashioned singing parties held early in the winter by First Baptist Married People's class proved so popular that members have started another series, the first of which came Sunday night in the home of Mrs. W. H. Harrison, 1406 Bush street.

Co-hosts with Mrs. Harrison were Messrs and Mesdames E. W. Ashland, John J. Vernon, Kenneth King and Edward J. Opper. In receiving guests, Mrs. Harrison had assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harlow and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pearson. Mr. Martin and Mr. Harlow are president and vice-president of the class.

Punch was served to the guests shortly after their arrival. A short period devoted to business matters was followed by group singing, with E. W. Ashland leading and Mrs. R. H. Martin accompanying at the piano.

The host group had observed a St. Patrick's theme in decorations for the affair. In addition to a basket of flowers from the class, were bouquets sent in by Mrs. Harlow, Mrs. King and Mrs. Vernon. Spread with a cut-work cloth and green tablecloth, the dining table was centered with poppies and ferns in a silver bowl, and lighted with white tapers. Sweet peas and tapers adorned the buffet. Mrs. Ashland poured tea, while Mrs. Vernon served sherry and coffee.

Compromised the refreshments, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. King and Mrs. Opper assisted in the dining room. Present were Mrs. Harrison and the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Evan Owens, Messrs. and Mesdames James W. Simpson, C. E. Hayes, Edward Farmer, Leslie Pearson, Harry Harlow, Richard Martin, Harry Fink, Ray Nichols, Russell Crouse, George Huffman, J. C. James, W. J. Hemmen, Earl Frevert, Ashland, John J. Vernon, Kenneth King and Edward J. Opper; Mesdames F. W. Dean, Glenn Miller, Charles Spurrer, J. J. Minter, Elaine Owens, this city, and Miss Edna Dickinson, Long Beach; Fred Sanford, Allan Nelson, with three guests of the class, Mr. and Mrs. Frank King of Los Angeles and Mrs. George Sundt of South Dakota.

Group Attends Play Following Supper In Visel Home

Entertaining at a buffet supper Friday night in their home, 220 Cypress avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Visel extended a pleasant hospitality to a group of young people who then continued to Los Angeles Biltmore theatre for the "Ridley Players' presentation of "Riders to the Sea" and "Playboy of the Western World."

The Visel home was lighted with many white tapers. Orange blossoms and other white flowers contributed to a pretty background which had been arranged for the serving of supper, buffet style. Napkins and other appointments furthered a green and white theme.

In the group were members of the Workshop group of Santa Ana Community Players. Miss June Arnold, chairman of the young thespians, had planned for the trip, making arrangements with assistance of Miss Betty Jane Moore.

Those sharing the pleasures of the evening, in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Visel, were Mrs. Robert Norton, Miss Elsie Siemsen, Mrs. Kemper Taylor, Mr. Crotalk, Robert Chapman, Ray Lindman, Art Casey, Miss Carol House, Miss Jean McKamy, Miss Betty Jane Moore, Miss June Arnold, Miss Jeannette Bodman, Miss Dorothy Bodman, Mr. De Leve, Miss Frances Roper and Miss Yvonne Nelson.

Auxiliary Schedules Events of Next Few Weeks

Plans for participation in various events of the near future were made last night by members of Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical union, meeting as guests in the home of Mrs. V. C. Shidler, 1129 South Garnsey street.

Long Beach auxiliary extended the group an invitation to attend a 12:30 o'clock luncheon and card party March 19 at Houghton park on Atlantic avenue in Long Beach.

Mrs. Charles Claytor will entertain members at a one o'clock luncheon Tuesday, March 26, in her home at Orange Park Acres. Members are requested to bring their material for the new quilt which is to be started that day.

Mrs. Warren Brakeman will be hostess at the next business meeting, scheduled for Monday evening, April 8, at 7:30 o'clock in her home, 208 1-2 East Tenth street.

Mrs. Shidler had observed a springtime theme in decorating for the evening. Many flowers were in the background, and at the refreshment hour when a dessert course was served, napkins and other decorative details conformed to a colorful motif.

Present with Mrs. Shidler, and the president, Mrs. F. E. Stilwell, were Mesdames J. H. Patison, C. A. Rousseau, Mabel Sherwood, George W. Duke, W. S. Hawk, Charles Clayton, Carl Thrasher, J. W. Jones, Carl Fisher, and J. W. Parkinson.

Endeavor Members Are Guests at Kid Party

Miss Dorothy Matz and Miss Matilda Dowling were co-hostesses at a kid party last week in the home of the former's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Matz, 111 East Tenth street. Guests at the affair were members of the High School Christian Endeavor league of Evangelical church.

Green tapers and sweet peas were among the home decorations on a St. Patrick's theme. Jackstones, newspaper relay and other contests enjoyed were reminiscent of childhood days. On arriving at the Matz home, guests had been presented with lollipops.

Refreshments served included sandwiches, pickles, sherry, cookies and hot chocolate. Mrs. Matz and Mrs. A. L. Dowling assisted their daughters in serving.

Y. W. Concludes First Decade of Service in Santa Ana

Ten years of steady growth in service to the community were marked last night by Santa Ana Y. W. C. A., holding its tenth annual membership dinner in the Y. W. rooms. Approximately 200 members participated in the event, which came as a climax to a week's membership renewal campaign carried on under the direction of two team captains, Mrs. John Henderson and Miss Lena Thomas.

Miss Mary W. Howard and Miss Mary Porter are general and Girl Reserve secretaries of the association.

Adoption of a new purpose, election of a board of directors and presentation of annual reports featured the business meeting, conducted by the president, Miss Mabel McFadden. The program itself followed the fellowship theme suggested by the new purpose.

Following a talk by Mrs. John Tesseman on "Our First Decade," Miss Marian Peabody, music director of the national Y. W. C. A. presided over an interval of music during which Japanese, Negro and Spanish artists entertained.

The meeting was in the nature of a homecoming honoring association leaders. Mrs. Theron Clark (Nancy Elder) of Los Angeles, who until last year had served as secretary of the Y. W. C. A. among those present. Association past presidents introduced were Mrs. John Tesseman, Mrs. C. F. Smith, Mrs. John Henderson and Miss Mabel McFadden, who had served a term preceding her present regime.

Tapers and flowers decking tables were in blue and white, association colors. Dinner was served by Girl Reserves. Miss Clara Spelman was at the piano for group singing at intervals throughout the evening. Miss Georgia Belle Walton played a violin obligato for the first selection.

In presenting a short review of association work for the past year, Miss McFadden stressed the Y. W. C. A.'s interest in all community projects which have to do with young people. In her review of the work of the past ten years, Mrs. Tesseman told of the many projects worked out by the association, and of the progress made under each project.

William E. Otis, who has been instrumental in laying a foundation for Camp Emma Otis, Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman and Mrs. Wilson, who were on the furnishings committee when the present headquarters were obtained, were introduced.

Miss Peabody told of the joy music can mean to an association such as the Y. W. C. A. Japanese girls, in native costume, presented a song and dance number, after which there was group singing of "Cherry Blossoms." Lynwood Young sang solos, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Shortnin' Bread" preceding group singing of Negro spirituals. Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanchez sang a duet following a solo by Mr. Sanchez. Girl Reserves sang Swiss and Russian folk tunes. The program was concluded with group singing.

New members of the board of directors, who will serve with the 18 members re-elected, are Mrs. Dexter Ball, Miss Eleanor Crookshank, Miss Mary Ford, Mrs. R. Carson Smith, Mrs. M. B. Wellington and Mrs. W. H. Guthrie. Elected on the nominating committee for 1936 were Mesdames M. C. Maloney, A. J. Lashby, Frank Henderson, P. R. Reynolds and Miss Gertrude Minor. Mrs. Maloney was chairman of tellers for last night.

STATE ROAD MEASURE HIT BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

ORANGE, March 12.—Directors of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held in the chamber of commerce office Monday afternoon, went on record as opposed to the proposed legislation which would place county roads in charge of the state and discussed the possible results of the inclusion of Glassell street in the state secondary highway system.

No solution of the problem of parallel parking which in time may be required by the state on the highway, was offered during the prolonged discussion. It was brought out that the street was made a part of the secondary system two years ago when petitions from residents had been presented to the state highway commission requesting it.

MISSION WORK PRESENT TALKS OUTLINED FOR AT SESSION OF CHURCH CIRCLE CLUB SECTION

ORANGE, March 12.—Miss Alena Grafton, of Los Angeles, state secretary of Women's Home missionary societies of Christian churches, was the speaker Monday night at a meeting of the Princess Long circle of the local Christian church of which Mrs. B. R. Fletcher is advisor. Miss Grafton outlined the work of world missions.

Miss Doris Riffle presided. A Japanese motif prevailed in the decorations for the church parlor, with a quantity of peach blossoms in baskets and vases. The circle will study Japan for the coming six months. Tentative plans were made for a tea to be held soon. Miss Irene White, chairman of group No. 3, and members of her committee were in charge of the program.

Miss White conducted a devotional service and all present took part in the benediction. Refreshments were served on individual trays and miniature Japanese lanterns were used as favors. Tea was served with rice cakes.

Hostesses were Miss White and the Misses Dorothy Finley, Anita Myracle, Doris Riffle, Lorraine Ragan, Barbara Reed, Anieta Owen and Margaret Wood, and others present were Mrs. Fletcher, Miss Grafton and the Misses Mary Mosse, Luhera Morgan, Opal McAdoo, Marie Hoffman, Margaret Todd, Elinor Adams, Marie Bivens, Alice Les Larzes, Eileen Gates and Ethelyn McCullom. Two guests shared the hospitality of the circle, Miss Pauline Johnson and Miss Betty Baier.

and antique glass making. The finest quality of sand for glass making in America is to be found at Corona, she stated. Mrs. Ernest Ross spoke on the Tennessee Valley Authority, outlining the work being done by the government. She said that leaders of the project declared that when completed the project would represent pure and simple Americanism, in spite of the fact that many persons attach other "isms" to it.

A resolution was adopted making it necessary to cancel reservations for luncheons by Saturday night at the latest. Miss Emma Williamson was toastmaster.

At the luncheon table a birthday cake was cut in observance of the birthday of Miss Flo Scarritt and she was presented with a gift by the president of the section, Mrs. Walter Kogler. Twenty-five members and one guest, Miss Sue Scarritt, were present.

The program for the meeting to be held March 25 was announced and responses are to be "Remember," Mrs. C. F. Howell will discuss the fate of the lost Atlantis continent, and Mrs. A. Haven Smith the opera "Faust."

THE TINYMIES

The checked hen clucked very loud. "You can't blame her, cause she feels proud," said Doty. "She laid seven eggs, while most hens lay but one."

"She sure's entitled to a treat. Let's get her lots of corn to eat, and then we'll make an omelet. That will be lots of fun."

The giant answered, with a smile. "We'll feed her, but please wait a while before you start to crack those eggs. They're mystery eggs, you know."

"What's in them I don't know myself, but we won't put them on the shelf. We'll break them, very shortly, and perhaps we'll have a show."

The checked hen then strutted around. "Hey, just where can the corn be found?" cried Doty. "I will feed the hen. I'll give her plenty, too."

The giant said, "Go to my shack. You'll find the corn around in back. The hen will trail along, and wait right here for you."

"Please hurry," shouted Doty. "Gee, I'm just as anxious as can be to start in cracking eggs." Then Doty loudly cried, "Me, too!"

"While you are gone much time we'll lose. I guess I'll flop and take a snooze. Please wake me when you come back, lad, whatever else you do."

The giant then sat on the ground and, while the Tinnies gathered round, he hummed a little tune. Then Doty slowly sneaked away.

"I'm going to break an egg," said he. "I simply cannot wait to see what they contain, so I'll find out myself, this very day."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Keep on your toes to become the toast of the town.

He took one egg out of the nest, deciding he would leave the rest. And then he dropped it on the ground and got a big surprise.

The egg, of course, broke all apart, and thump, thump, thump went Duncy's heart, as quite a strange wee man appeared before his very eyes.

(The man from the egg performs for the Tinnies in the next story.)

YOU'RE JUST A BIT CRAZY WHEN YOU'RE TIRED OUT

Wives have long suspected that their husbands, after one of those bad days at the office, have acted slightly loony---and here's the scientific explanation for it

It has been a tough day; you are just plain beat out. At dinner you say, "Steak, again?" and your wife reminds you that steak was what you specifically asked for, that very morning.

By Dr. Frank Thone

DON'T let yourself get too tired. For when you do, you become just a little insane.

Such is the warning of a competent scientist, Dr. H. M. Johnson, research professor of psychology at American University in Washington, D. C. His dictum is no mere authoritarian pronouncement; he can back it up with the results of many carefully performed experiments conducted while he was stationed at the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh, and by equally careful observations elsewhere.

But you do not need to be a professor in a laboratory to get some sort of observations that will check up this doctrine. Which of us does not remember "acting crazy" when over-fatigued?

If you are an average citizen, you will unquestionably have gone through evenings like this:

You get home from the job. It has been a tough day; you are just plain beat out. At dinner you say, "Steak, again?" and your wife reminds you that steak was what you specifically asked for, that very morning. Noticing the rather obvious tone of patient restraint in her voice, you drop the subject.

She starts to tell you of the hard day she has had; the maid has the 'flu, so she had to do the housework herself; and besides that get things ready for bridge with the Binxes tonight.

You had forgotten all about the date with the Binxes. You had figured on going straight to bed. You start to say something to that effect; your wife raises an eyebrow. So you go upstairs and fumble into a clean shirt, cursing Jim Binx and all his ancestors under your breath.

WELL, Mr. and Mrs. Binx arrive. You play bridge. You notice that your fingers are all thumbs; you mess up a couple of deals with your clumsiness. You forget what's trump. The Binxes, who aren't tired, laugh at you, but your wife is annoyed.

That makes you sore again. You growl at your rotten luck, though really your hands average well enough. You overbid and get set. You underbid and get a postmortem after the hand. In general, you have a pretty rotten time.

After the Binxes are safely off the front steps, your wife opens up with, "Whatever possessed you to trump Dora's ace in that last hand? Are you plumb crazy?"

And so, far into the night—
The point is, though, that your wife was

You curse the other driver, even though you know he cannot hear you. Shifting shadows transform themselves into stray horses, late pedestrians, unlighted cars—that are not there at all.

right. You are crazy. So is she. You both have got yourselves too tired, and you are doing, temporarily, what insane patients do all the time, and to a more marked degree. Your grouching, your loss of temper, your general clumsiness, your forgetfulness and errors of judgment, all are symptoms of a passing, though none the less real, mental aberration.

You need treatment, and you get it: seven or eight hours of sound sleep. In the morning you are sane again.

In this imaginary domestic tragi-comedy, the effects of fatigue acquired at one set of tasks are transferred to bad performance in another situation. But in another set of circumstances, where Dr. Johnson has repeatedly made observations both on himself and others, the effects of fatigue are seen in the original task itself—and possible consequences may be serious, too.

DR. JOHNSON pictures the progress of weariness as it overtakes and makes a near-lunatic of an average automobile driver who undertakes to drive all day and nearly all night. In the morning you start out fresh and bright as the day itself. You do not rivet your eyes on the road all the time. You glance up to enjoy the landscape, or sidewise to admire your companion's profile. You talk freely, crack jokes, maybe sing a little.

You glance at the instrument board, checking up on gas, oil, battery, speed, mileage. You keep an eye on the passing road signs, and know how far it is to the next town. In general, you are a normal, untired human being, living in a dozen directions at once.

As the day wears on, you shed some of your early exuberance. You stop joking, and talk less. You don't feel like singing, and the landscape no longer appeals to you. You watch approaching cars a little more anxiously.

By late night, you have become practically a driving monomaniac. All that matters is the road, the road, the road. You stop talking altogether. Your erstwhile interesting companion is a nuisance and a bore. You forget about watching the instrument board. You disregard the road signs, lose track of where you are.

You are no longer alert to traffic emergencies, and find yourself making sudden swerves or stepping hard on the brakes, to avoid a crash. Then you curse the other driver, even though you know he cannot hear you. Shifting shadows transform themselves into stray horses, late pedestrians, unlighted cars—that are not there at all.

And when your companion first suggests, then insists, that you must stop and get some sleep, you want to keep on driving, driving, driving, hearing nothing but the drone of the motor, seeing nothing but the road, the road, the road . . .

You're "coo-coo" again.

UTTER weariness of this kind can do queer tricks, sometimes. Dr. Johnson states that he himself, under the stress of too many hours of driving, has in the extremity of his fatigue "heard voices," exactly as some types of mental patients hear them.

"Fortunately," he adds, "such conditions lasted but a few seconds at a time, and never occurred in heavy traffic."

Another condition arises under heavy fatigue: you come to a point where you "feel good," even though you may have a dull sort of realization that you are not exactly normal. You will protest to your friends that "I'm all right"— exactly as a drunk who has reached the same stage proclaims how fine he feels, and the solicitude over him is quite misplaced, or even officious.

It is a cardinal point in Dr. Johnson's psychological doctrine that there is a basic physiological similarity between the temporary insanity of fatigue and the temporary insanity of alcoholism.

To this should be added a third cause of the same type of disorder: oxygen shortage, such as must be endured by aviators flying too high without oxygen equipment. Tests he performed on aviators as a result of war-time problems brought out the same kind of thing: impairment of judgment, bad muscular co-ordination, quarrelsomeness, misinterpretation of sights and sounds, all arose when the man under test was put on short rations of oxygen, as they do in drunkenness or extreme fatigue.

One physiological picture can account for all these similarities.

WHEN we exert ourselves, either physically or mentally, the cells of our body split apart molecules of food substance—usually sugar—and gain energy from it. The final product of this living combustion is the same as that of fire, carbon dioxide. But the first products are half-way things, alcohols and similar compounds.

If enough oxygen keeps coming in via the blood corpuscles, to burn up these alcohols and their chemical relatives, all is well: they yield more energy and do good rather than harm. But if the alcohols are formed too rapidly, or if the blood does not bring oxygen rapidly enough, they pile up in the cells as poisons—and we have our turn as temporary minor lunatics.

That is a very much simplified (possibly over-simplified) picture of what goes on in our bodies. Dr. Johnson emphasizes his belief that to a considerable degree it goes on all over our bodies, even though we may not be exerting every muscle or every nerve.

Disregard of the "all-over" participation in exertions that make us tired has led some psychologists into error, he holds. Some of them have gone so far as to declare that if one arm, for example, is overexerted, the "poisons" its muscles produce are carried to all other parts of the body and there impair other cells and tissues. Similarly, severe mental exertion can cause the "fatigue-poisons" generated in the brain and nervous system to be carried to remote muscles. Brain-fag can make our toes ache, they say.

All this, declares Professor Johnson, is nonsense. When we exert one set of muscles we can not help moving practically all other muscles in our body, at least to some extent.

WISCONSIN'S EXPERIENCE WITH THE "PINK SLIP"

The Income Tax act of 1934 provided, amongst other things, that the gross and net income of all income tax payers shall be made available to public examination and inspection.

This object is reached by forcing everyone who returns his income tax to place upon a "pink slip" certain figures concerning his income and deductions, which slip is for public inspection.

If this provision remains the law all prominent citizens and all sizable taxpayers will find their private affairs published in the newspapers.

Totally aside from the embarrassment it will cause the individuals concerned, the question arises: Does it or does it not serve any useful purpose?

Wisconsin has long had an income tax which provides for the same sort of publicity. In a recent report on this feature of the law, the Wisconsin Tax Commission went on record as follows:

Experience has taught us that this is not a true adjunct to the disclosure of any additional income and has become a source of nuisance by credit agencies, bond salesmen, and business competitors. We have no instances where public inspection has brought forth reported incomes and, although a matter of conjecture, we believe that it has retarded the making out of complete returns.

It is easy to imagine the glee with which an ambitious salesman will look over this list of names. "Every man a live prospect, pay dirt as last, hurrah!"

How the shyster will chortle with laughter as he looks over the best list of names he ever saw! If he can't catch his usual percentage of fish and "suckers" out of this batch, he had better turn to honest work.

And then there will be the political demagogue who will look for prominent names and political opponents to harass and perhaps to lampoon or hold forth to scorn as malefactors of society.

And lastly, there will be a few contemptuous business men who will use a competitor's profit statement to prove that he "robbed" his customers, failed to pay his help and whatever other mischief he can think of.

Reconsidering its earlier passage of this act, congress yesterday voted 302 to 98 to repeal this provision. Now the matter is up for Senate action, where it ought to meet the fate that the Wisconsin experience has decreed for its own publicity provision.

RADIO BATTLE MAY ENLIGHTEN PEOPLE ON THEIR INTERESTS

Father Coughlin now has replied to General Johnson and so has Senator Huey Long. Johnson replies that the priest from Detroit and the senator from Louisiana are "a couple of termites" and "Public enemies No. 1 and No. 2."

In the light of the lurid statements of each one of these three people, one is pretty apt to get a distorted view, possibly, of the situation. Certainly, for positive unreliability in regard to statements, General Johnson, as he was at the head of the NRA, was capable of reaching the "nth" power.

Many times one would almost doubt whether he was perfectly sober when he made these statements and assaults.

There is no doubt that Johnson has been expressing, in any case, the ideas of certain interests behind him.

Father Coughlin's statement that he is a "broken record of a master's voice" is not entirely inapt, but all of the language used by one against the other is undignified and unbecoming.

It must be, however, that the priest and Senator Long are feared by some forces in whose interest Johnson is working. For strangely enough, all three of them, for one reason and another, are harsh critics of certain things in the administration.

We might be able to gain some comfort, or reach some conclusion concerning the wise attitude to take by noting who one's enemies are and learning the reasons for their opposition.

As the fireworks are displayed between Johnson, on the one hand, and Father Coughlin and Huey on the other, some light may be thrown upon the whole situation which will enable the people to decide upon what course is in their interest.

THE SERIOUS QUESTION BEFORE THE COUNTRY

It is generally conceded that the country is on the road to business recovery. Even the railroads, hardest hit of all our business enterprises, are showing some improvement in earnings.

The dividend situation is improving greatly. Favorable actions are the rule, and unfavorable actions are the exception. The business index has been rising steadily now for some weeks and is at the highest point since 1932. The weaknesses of the N. R. A. have been fully exploited. Many changes in policy are inevitable.

But he would be the most unwarranted of pessimists who would declare that the New Deal has accomplished nothing. Government spending has been large. That began with the organization of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation under Mr. Hoover, and was accelerated by the Roosevelt policies since the administration came into power.

But this was absolutely essential following the utter collapse of the financial and industrial structure of the country beginning in October, 1929, and reaching its lowest depths on March 4th, 1933.

The unemployment situation is still the serious question before the country. A reduction of three or four million is good, but with more than ten millions still out of jobs, recovery is far from being complete.

In view of all that has been done to expedite recovery, this fact of unemployment is still menacing. It is no wonder that there are those who feel that capitalism has broken down and that a new system of some kind must take its place.

If any business concern had shown such inefficiency as has been shown by the economic system under which we have been operating, any discerning counsellor would say that it ought to be completely liquidated or fundamentally reconstructed.

Recovery will not be complete till every employable man and woman is given an opportunity to share in the productive mechanism of a nation whose resources are as rich and adequate as ours are.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the government is bending all its energies to get people off the relief rolls by putting them into productive jobs. That is the chief concern now before the country.

SCRAPPING RAILROADS

Railroad scrapping goes merrily on. Last year 76 miles of railroad were built, but nearly 2000 miles were scrapped. This scrapping involves almost entirely branch lines, which, before the coming of the auto truck, were feeders for the main line.

Twenty-five years ago, the railroad interests were roundly scored for not building more of these branch lines. In Nebraska at that time there was a movement on to compel main trunk lines running parallel to each other at a distance from 25 to 50 miles apart to build branch lines connecting them. Had that been done, it is easy to imagine how many more lines of railroad would now be in process of being scrapped.

It appears that in the future railroads will be limited to long haul passenger and freight traffic. The bus and the truck are rapidly taking over the short haul everywhere.

If this change involves a tremendous destruction of capital property, it should teach promoters of industry to prepare for such changes by a drastic policy of amortization. In many branches of industry this has been planned for. But the railroad industry did little of it. Hence the plight in which the railroads find themselves today.

No Important Changes in New Football Rules

San Bernardino Sun

With pardonable pride officials of the national Collegiate Athletic association, who make the rules for football, announce that there will be no important changes next year in the regulations governing the game. It is the first time in the football committee's history, which covers 30 seasons, that such a statement could be made.

Yet a slight change in wording of the "dead ball" rule may portend dramatic changes for football. For the prevention of injuries the rule-makers decided some years ago that the ball is "dead" when the runner's forward progress is checked by an opponent. Next autumn officials are to be lenient in enforcing this rule, allowing the runner "a somewhat greater opportunity to break away or make a pass."

Undoubtedly the committee is making allowances for the lateral pass, a maneuver appropriated from English rugby. In that game it is by no means enough to stop the man, because the ball is likely to go on in another player's hands. Possession of the ball is still of prime importance in the American game, so that lateral passes are not likely to be tossed about with the abandon of rugby. But the committee thinks that the lateral pass adds enough excitement to football to deserve a little encouragement under the rules of the game.

Millions Paid to Workers on Aqueduct

Pasadena Star-News

Aqueduct News, published by the Metropolitan Water District, states that in the first two years of aqueduct construction $13,392,000 has been paid direct to persons engaged in the project. More than half of this amount went to employees of the district itself, while $5,315,000 was distributed as wages and salaries through various contractors, and $1,200,000 to employees of commissary and transportation sub-contractors. All such employees must be certified residents of one or another of the thirteen cities within the district.

More than $20,000,000 has been distributed for materials and supplies, largely furnished by Southern California firms. Through these activities, it is estimated, 10,000 men, in addition to the 5000 directly employed, are benefiting from this huge undertaking.

As the work advances, the number of employees is being increased. Of the total estimated investment, $209,420,000, $95,039,000 is assigned to direct labor cost and $77,260,000 for equipment, materials and supplies, which in turn goes largely into wage channels.

Unquestionably, this expenditure is an influential factor in economic recovery in this area; and it comes at a time when most needed as an aid to unemployment relief.

Billboard Regulation

New York Times

Heartened by Judge Rugg's favorable decision in Massachusetts, the anti-billboard crusaders in the East are redoubting their efforts in behalf of roadside amenities. Pending legislation both at Hartford and Albany is designed to subject the signs that line the highways to some form of control. The Connecticut bill, backed by the Federated Garden Clubs of that State, restores the three-cent tax of 1925, pushes the billboards fifty feet back from the right-of-way and prohibits their erection at curves and crossings.

The New York bill, which applies to rural areas only, provides for the licensing of outdoor advertisements and requires every sign to have a permit. Set-backs range from 50 to 300 feet. No billboards may be erected within 500 feet of a highway intersection, or within 200 feet of any "abrupt" corner or curve. Six hundred square feet is the maximum area allowed. For sale and for rent signs are exempted from regulation. So are small signs erected by a property owner to advertise any business conducted on the premises.

Some such controls must be adopted if scenery is to be preserved along with the other natural resources of New York and New England.

A WORD OF CONSOLATION

German musicians have won a competition in bagpipe playing against a team of skirling Scots.

Ye banks and braes of Bonnie Doon,
Renowned in song and story,
Today I learn
With sair concern
That vanished is your glory.
The laurels that ye held sae lang
Hae crumpled like a crouton,
Your airy fame
Is put to shame
My mony a tootin' Teuton.

The lads who chant "Die Wacht am Rhein"
And "Deutschland uber Alles,"
Now crown their brows
With greenwood boughs
Once worn by Bruce and Wallace.
The pipes, so lately Scotland's pride,
Are piled, by skirling Germans;
Aul Scottish songs
Are sung by throngs
Of Honuses and Hermans.

Ah weel, ye Scotsmen asked for it;
Secure in your position,
Ye always should
Have understood
The risk of competition.
Patch up your pipes with bits of string,
Rehearse new chants and chorals,
Not far away
May be the day
When ye may win new laurels.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "THE BRIDE WALKED THROUGH THE LOBBY," SAID THE CLERK, "AND NOT A WOMAN STARED."

(Copyright, 1935, by Publishers' Syndicate)

I was around at the firehouse talking to Mr. Riley the hooker ladder driver, and I said, Wich do you mind the worst, Mr. Riley, snow or rain when you have to fite a fire?

They both get in your eyes, but snow is the worst when it comes down like it did the time of the Big Blizzard, Mr. Riley said. The drifts was 20 feet high and every fire plug in town was buried so deep it took a whole day to locate them and dig them out, and of course that had to be the very day of the big fire in the match works, he said, and I said, G, that must be a good one.

If you mean a bad one, it was, Mr. Riley said. When a match works goes up it goes up quick and there's no time to dig out fire plugs if you want to put it out before it goes out by itself from sheer overwork, he said, and I said, Well gosh, what did you do?

I had an idea, and if I do say so myself, it was a brilliant one for that kind of weather when your very thawts freeze before you get them half thawt, Mr. Riley said. The time of day happened to be just 5 in the afternoon when every boy in town was listening in on the radio to the Daredevil Dercum serial. So what I did was to call up the broadcast station and have them slip in an announcement that a big free snowball fite was taking place at the scene of the fire and that the mayor had ordered all the cops not to interfere. Well, sir, in less than a quarter of an hour there was 5000 boys and about a thousand tomboys on the scene, and we divided them up in 2 even armies on opposite sides of the fire and told them to have them slip in an announcement that a big free snowball fite was taking place at the scene of the fire and that the mayor had ordered all the cops not to interfere.
